

'Sure Winner' in Last Week of Contest

$200 In Cash Is Offered

There'll be a "sure winner" in this week's Post gridiron contest.

It will be the last of the popular event this season, but will be the easiest of all to win, for the winner does not have to pick all 15 victors to earn the cash prize of $200 (plus $50 if he's a Times subscriber).

The "pot" went up to $200 when there was not a cash winner last week. F. P. Frost of College Avenue in San Mateo won the first prize of two tickets to the California-Stanford game this Saturday. He named 12 of 15 winners and gave the nearest estimate of the net yards made by the 49ers in their tie against Chicago.

This week's best entry will be declared the cash award winner. Deadline is Thursday.

Deadline Moved Up For Holiday

Post news and advertising deadlines have been moved forward because of Thanksgiving.

News copy for next week's Post should be in the editorial section's hands by Thursday evening.

Delivery of the Post will be next Tuesday, not Wednesday as usually is the case.

Moms Picket Car Wash

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Pushing baby carriages and carrying placards protesting construction of a car wash in their neighborhood, more than 50 mothers paraded before the site in Daly City.

The irate parents were once again denouncing the construction of an automatic car wash adjacent to the Colma School on the corner of Hillside Avenue and Market Street.

Owned by John Smith, the car wash has been the center of mounting controversy since it was first proposed about a year ago.

One sign asked, "Would you believe a car wash here?"

Another pleaded, "Protect Our Children," while still a third informed, "Safety along with Education."

Five construction workers of the Col-Best Builders Company ignored the pickets, for the most part, and continued erecting steel girders atop the completed concrete erecting foundation.

What the parents are most concerned about, according to P-TA Head Harriet O'Neil, is the increased traffic danger the car wash will generate in an already congested area.

"There is already considerable traffic passing through this intersection," Mrs. O'Neil said.

"With the completion of this car wash, we feel our children's safety will be jeopardized further."

A passing school bus driver, stopped his vehicle, opened the door and yelled to the mothers, "I'm with you girls—this corner is congested enough already."

The pickets were the latest

move by the parent-residents of the Hillside Avenue neighborhood against the car wash.

Earlier this week they presented a long petition to the Jefferson Elementary School District board of trustees asking their support in the matter.

The board told the parents they would look into the matter.

In an emotion-packed hearing two weeks ago, some 100 parents stormed into the city council chambers demanding construction of the car wash be halted.

The parents later told The Times their pleas "fell on deaf ears."

"What we want now is for the county to build a sidewalk along the west side of Hillside Avenue so the children can safely walk to school," Mrs. O'Neil said.

Council Hears A Plea

Residents of Daly City's Hillside Boulevard-Market Street area Monday night pleaded with the City Council to take immediate action to better control traffic in their neighborhood.

"There already have been several bad accidents on this street (Hillside) and we are worried about our children's safety," Mrs. Arlene Pleich said.

The area has been the year-long scene of bitter protests over construction of an automatic coin-operated car wash in the predominately residential section.

Mrs. Pleich, speaking for the scattering of parents at Monday's regular meeting of the council, asked officials to erect stop signs on Hillside Boulevard in order to slow traffic down.

Mrs. Pleich said cars presently move along Hillside at a fast rate of speed "Because they have to stop so many times on Mission Street, they decide to drive down Hillside."

Both Colma and the new John F. Kennedy schools are located on Market Street, however, many students live in the Hillside neighborhood and walk home.

Because of the work under way at the car wash, the sidewalk has been torn up and children must walk into the busy street.

Jeff Boundary Study Pact Goes to UC

By WILL THOMAS

The Field Service Center of the University of California, Berkeley, will conduct Jefferson High School District's boundary, enrollment, racial, cultural, and economic group distribution study.

Trustees Monday night accepted the U.C. study, upon the recommendation of Superintendent Ed Morgan.

The survey, which would be completed by May 15, 1967, is to cost district taxpayers $8,250, plus cost of printing reports.

The school board had a choice between the U.C. proposal and one submitted by Stanford University's School of Education.

Although the Stanford study would have cost less—$6,750—than the California survey, trustees shared the contention of administrators that the U.C. proposal appeared to go into "greater detail," as Superintendent Morgan put it, and "seems stronger," in Trustee Ray Milton's words.

The subject of boundary and ethnic studies has been in front of trustees for several months. First a citizen committee's slate of suggestions was rejected; then trustees experienced a seeming lack of interest in a second attempt to form an area-wide group.

After the second failure, board members decided to direct the survey effort themselves, utilizing experienced outside aid.

Several weeks of correspondence finally led to this week's action.

J. Cecil Parker, head of the University of California's Field Service Center, noted that the study would center around these seven questions:

—What are the implications of present school boundaries for the enrollments in four high schools (Jefferson, Oceana, Terra Nova and Westmont) of the district?

—What projections of future student residence patterns can be made?

—What projections of future racial, cultural and economic statuses of the students in the high schools can be made?

—What indications are there that the distributions of racial, cultural and economic groups will change with respect to housing patterns?

—What indications are there that reconstituting the attendance areas of the high schools will be met with serious objections by citizens of the community and their high school-age children?

—What are the possible grounds of such objection and to (Please See Page 3, Col. 2)

Might Cause A Teller To Wonder?

How bulletproof is a bullet-proof glass window?

This is a question undoubtedly being pondered today by bank officials in Daly City.

The windows are designed to afford maximum protection for bank employees in the event of a robbery.

On Monday night, someone smashed the rear bulletproof glass, encasing the rear drive-in tellers' window, at the First National Bank on Mission Street—with a rock.

Southgate Agreement Authorized

The quarter-million dollar Southgate extension project—which will link the existing roadway with the Junipero Serra Boulevard—was expected to get under way soon.

Monday night the Daly City council adopted a resolution authorizing execution of an agreement between San Mateo County and that city.

The county has agreed to share 50 per cent of the cost, but not to exceed $100,792, on a matching basis with the city.

City Engineer Art Reschke estimated the cost of the project, over a stretch of undeveloped land, at some $250,000.

The funds were requested about eight months ago, Reschke said, and would come from gasoline taxes.

Children Score Low On Tests

Preliminary evaluation of results of reading tests given first and second grade children of Laguna Salada School District last May indicate the district's beginning pupils scored "considerably below the test publisher's norm," a report presented to district trustees last Tuesday reveals.

In San Mateo County, more than half the first grade pupils and one third of the second grade pupils were in the lowest 25 per cent of students taking the 1964 edition Stanford Reading Test.

The Miller-Unruh Basic Reading Act of 1965, implemented by State Board of Education regulations, required that the test be given all first and second grade public school children last spring.

Supt. Frederick Lucas said Laguna Salada District pupils scored below the county average.

Among possible explanations for low performance of the district (Please See Page 3, Col. 1)

Widening Project Protests Overruled

San Bruno councilmen adopted a resolution overruling protests against the city's Montgomery Avenue widening project after a public hearing in the matter at Monday night's council meeting.

Resolutions ordering adoption of the city engineer's report, confirming assessment, and ordering work and acquisitions and designating a collection officer for the project were also adopted.

The street will be widened in the area between Tanforan and Atlantic Avenue.

In other business Monday, the council awarded a contract for construction of a parking area adjacent to the Belle Air Park fire station to Douglas and Woodhouse Company. The firm's bid of $4,154 was the lowest of eight entered on the project.

A contract for a hydraulic platform to be installed on a city truck was let to Utility and Body Company of Berkeley. The company entered a low bid of $5,994.

A resolution authorizing a lease with the Mesa Restaurant for a parking lot facility on the east side of Huntington Avenue was also adopted.

S.S.F. Boy Hurt When Hit By Car

A 13-year-old South San Francisco school student was hit and seriously injured when he ran in front of a car on the El Camino Real last Thursday.

Robert Rohn of 13 Potrero Drive, was reported in satisfactory condition with head injuries in Letterman General Hospital, San Francisco.

Police said a car driven by Albert T. Tolomei, 22, 91 South of South San Francisco, struck the boy when he darted into the road.

A witness to the accident told police it appeared the driver had no chance to avoid hitting the victim.

Bruno Lawmen Probe Crestmoor 'Pot' Possession

Thirty Crestmoor High School students, boys and girls, have been smoking "pot" on their way to parties and games the past couple months, and three of them have been arrested for felony possession of marijuana, police disclosed yesterday.

San Bruno Police Detective Hugh Fraser reported the three apprehended were 17-year-old boys, nabbed as the 30 teenagers started "graduating" to LSD.

Fraser said he and Detective Ed Gilmore had been investigating the ring of swingers for some time, and were finally provided evidence by a parent who found marijuana in a daughter's purse.

The youngsters had started last summer, Fraser said, by swigging cough syrup they had stolen from supermarkets and chain drug stores.

Although the cough syrup, a popular "eight-hour" brand, is non-prescription, the youngsters claimed it made them "high" if they drank an entire bottle.

Later, the "high" from cough syrup was replaced by "blasted" marijuana at "grass" parties en route to other functions.

He said the youngsters would hold their "blasts" at remote spots where lookouts were able to warn of intruders. Having smoked, they would continue to parties or whatever functions they had started for, he said.

Fraser said that the youngsters, who come from all types of families, apparently did not steal anything other than the cough syrup, and were able to obtain all the marijuana and LSD they could finance, in San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury District.

None of the marijuana was found on school grounds. Meanwhile, a 15-year-old Atherton girl has admitted buying LSD on several occasions at the Fillmore Auditorium in San Francisco, Sheriff's Capt. Eugene E. Stewart said.

The girl's identity was learned, the officer said, after she sold a capsule of LSD to another 15-year-old girl at Woodside High School.

The Atherton girl, Stewart said, told investigators she does not know the name of the person from whom she bought the drug in San Francisco.

In the Woodside case, both the seller and buyer have been referred to juvenile authorities for action.

Man Hurt In Mishap 'Critical'

An Alameda teamster, father of a 3-week-old baby girl, was critically injured in a freak accident at the F. W. Woolworth warehouse in South San Francisco last week when an automatic freight elevator smashed down on him.

James Thomas Melin, 33, of 1016 Versales Avenue, remained in the intensive care unit of Peninsula Hospital following several hours of surgery for severe head injuries suffered in the accident.

Investigators said Melin, a truck driver for the Santa Fe corporation, delivered a shipment of goods to the Eccles Street warehouse shortly before 11 a.m.

After loading the shipment on the warehouse's automatic freight elevator, which lifts loads to another level, Melin started walking towards his truck at the loading platform.

C.C. Names Agent To Directors

Insurance agent Oscar E. Lopez-Guerra was appointed to the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce board of directors this week, filling a vacancy created by the resignation of director Hal Turkus.

Turkus resigned the director's post because business demands "made it impossible to devote the proper time to the job."

Lopez-Guerra, a native of Peru, has lived in San Bruno several years. He resides at 2279 Charlestown Avenue with his wife and three children. He is also a director of the San Bruno Rotary Club and treasurer and director of the Mission Neighborhood Center in San Francisco.

D.C. Man Is Robbed Of Rents

A gunman stuck a "hard object" into the back of a Daly City apartment house manager last night inside the building's carport area, and robbed him of more than $950 in rent receipts.

James Mountanos, manager of a large Parkview Avenue apartment building, said the man apparently was waiting for him to finish collecting the rent.

The assailant ran up behind his victim in the carport and calmly told him "don't make a move or I'll blow your head off."

Grabbing a plain manila envelope containing $805 in rent receipts, the man told the manager to empty his pockets.

The 53-year-old Mountanos said he handed over an additional $140 in his wallet before being forced into a small utility room by the gunman.

As he was entering the room, Mountanos caught a glimpse of the man before he fled on foot down the roadway.

Shortly after, a car was driven from the area at a high rate of speed, the victim said.

Described as in his 30's, about 5 feet 8 inches and weighing 190 pounds, the stout gunman talked with a slight Southern accent.

Pacifica Selects Police Station Site

By DON GRIERSON

Pacifica councilmen, after more than two years' deliberation, Monday night tentatively selected a site for the city's proposed new police station.

The council voted unanimously to authorize funds for an appraisal of the Laguna Salada School District property adjacent to the present city hall and police station, choosing the 12,700-square-foot site from nine locations under consideration.

Another site, the Novi property on Palmetto Avenue, was selected as an alternate location in the event the school property is appraised "at an evaluation exceeding the council's expectations."

However, John Muntz, an administrative assistant for the school district, said a preliminary appraisal on the property "coincides with the city's estimate of $41,450."

The property includes a 3,200-square-foot concrete block structure currently used as a storage building for the district's school buses.

Under the approved proposal, the city will renovate the building for police use and improve the grounds for parking at a cost of $35,000, bringing the total cost of the project to approximately $83,560.

The school district will vacate the property "no later than the middle of May," Muntz said, and contracts on the project can be let at that time.

"I think it is safe to say our police department will be in the new building within nine months," Mayor Harland Minshew said.

About ten members of the city's police department present at the meeting applauded loudly at the mayor's statement.

Schoolyard Cleaned Up In Daly City

Take a pile of debris, blend in a little money and pour the mixture into an open hole until its well settled, and what do you have?

A clean schoolyard and a covered hole, that's what.

Jefferson Elementary School District parents in Daly City had been up in arms over what they considered two major safety hazards centering around the new John F. Kennedy school on Market Street.

Because of a dispute between the architect and contractors over who was responsible for cleaning up the rocks, boards, sand and other debris at the JFK school site, the piles cluttered the limited school yard for several weeks.

Children delighted in picking up discarded bits of wood, pieces of cable and rocks and "launching" schoolmates on the head.

Meanwhile, another group of parents whose children walked up Market Street to the school, were likewise irate over an open culvert alongside the road.

In order to enter the school yard, children were forced to walk into the sometimes busy roadway in order to get around the open culvert.

After repeated protests by both groups of parents, school authorities decided to take positive action and had the debris and excess dirt dumped into the open culvert.

A letter was sent to the county Board of Supervisors, asking if a paved sidewalk could be constructed along the street so the children would not have to walk into the road, by a group of parents.

Shortly after receipt of the letter, the county started building the short length of sidewalk over the filled culvert.

According to a P-TA spokesman, the next target "concerned parents" are expected to concentrate on is the extension of Moltke Avenue.

Pay Less Store Bid Accepted

Harvin Construction Co., Inc., of South San Francisco, was awarded the construction contract for the $4.5 million Skaggs Pay Less Shopping Center, to be located at Alemany Boulevard near Junipero Serra, just north of the Daly City limits.

William C. Harr, president of Harvin, said the construction phase of the immense project will begin immediately.

The 120,000-square-foot center, all under one roof, will include the Pay Less Drugstore, Albertson's Food Center and other specialty departments offering such items as sporting goods, appliances, and hardware and bakery goods.

Roof-top parking will be provided.

The complex is being designed by Harada and Meun, San Francisco architectural firm.

Harr said his firm is on a ten-month completion schedule.

Children Score Low On Tests

Also, the new Stanford reading test was standardized on pupils from throughout the nation, with a disproportionately small sampling from California. Of 850,000 pupils tested in the standardization only 2,300 or three-tenths of one per cent were from California, the report states.

Based upon population, California should have been represented by approximately 9 per cent of the standardization group.

The superintendent said a preliminary survey indicates a high percentage of words contained in the test are not covered by the beginning reading texts utilized by the district, the Ginn basic readers and the Allyn-Bacon Company basic readers.

Lucas said he does not recommend "teaching to tests," and pointed out that there exists a "catching up" process in the district's system, "since second graders did better than first graders, and fifth graders have scored about average and eighth graders somewhat above average on previous tests."

Statewide results of the test will be reported to the State Board of Education later this week. "California norms can be used as reference points after the state report is available," the superintendent said, "and we can file a more complete report for the district."

Lucas said a check of several other counties indicates the state as a whole scored "considerable below what has been achieved on previous reading tests on this test."

Another report on the matter will be submitted at the next trustee meeting.

Jeff Students Argue Closed Campus Rule

A delegation of Jefferson High School students met with district superintendent Ed Morgan Monday to thrash out the school's "closed campus" ruling.

The closed campus ruling was approved by the Board of Education in November 1963, and prohibits students at the district's four high schools from leaving the immediate area during the 35 minute lunch break.

According to principal Ernest Ribera, all 1570 students attending Jefferson High School must remain inside the yard during breaks to insure their attendance at afternoon classes.

But numerous homeowners and some shops in the school area had earlier complained the students were loitering on their property and littering lawns and streets.

Ribera said "several incidents" were responsible for the ruling. He would not elaborate on the incidents.

Friday, more than 200 students, carrying placards condemning the closed campus ruling walked out of the school yard during lunch.

The protest procession started in the football field, wound through the cafeteria and out the gate where students milled what extent can they be answered?

—What evidence is there that educational experiences differ significantly among identifiable sub-groups of high school children?

Professor Parker urged the participation of adjacent elementary school districts. Previous trustee attempts have failed.

Additionally, the study will work with a half dozen "assumptions," including:

—The concerns of trustees are directed to all district schools;

—A specific concern of the people, trustees and the professional staff is the accommodation of minority group interests within the district;

—The best educational program for the whole district may not reside in exact similarities of program, teacher qualifications, resources expended, structure and facilities in each building; and,

—Trustees are uncommitted.

at this time, to any one solution to its immediate problem.

Armed with these assumptions, the study will take the form of three phases, Parker pointed out in his proposal:

1—data collection and analyses relevant for dealing with immediate concerns of the school district, such as overcrowding at Westmoor and boundaries for Serramonte High.

2—An attempt to make suggestions to the board relative to potential de facto segregation, on a long-range view, collecting data on housing patterns, for example.

3—Analysis of the relationship between decisions made by the high school trustees and those made by the elementary school district board members.

Parker noted that "in the long-term we may be able to help you prevent de facto school segregation and to do it in such a way that the citizens of the several communities will begin to think of all the schools in the district as their schools."

Laguna Talks Of Report Card Changes

Two proposals for new forms to report progress of primary students to parents were introduced last Tuesday at the regular meeting of Laguna Salada School District trustees.

The two report forms, prepared concurrently by staff members at Ortega and Sharp Park Schools and Pacific Heights School are similar in many respects, and both provide spaces for indicating progress as "satisfactory," "improving," or "needs to improve."

Both the report cards also divide the school year into four equal terms, and list 13 subjects each subdivided into secondary headings, for evaluation.

The Pacific Heights plan incorporates more parent conferences and calls specifically for two conferences each school year with the parents of each child.

Developers of the new simpler forms said more time for personal conferences with parents and individual counseling with pupils will be available if they are adopted.

If either of the proposed forms is adopted, the same card will be used by all primary grades at district schools "in order to avoid confusion."

YOU CAN BREAK THE RULES

More and more during the last few years, it has become a trend among decorators, both professional and amateur, to break all the so-called "rules."

Everyone remembers, a few years back, when we were told never to use blues and greens together, but now we know that the right shades of blues and greens blend beautifully.

As a matter of fact, blue and green mixtures in the same fabric are extremely popular in both draperies and upholstery. This is an example that many of the previous rules have been thrown out of the window.

Today, you can also do more mixing of woods, periods, finishes and colors in the same room. There is a much greater trend towards mixing than matching.

The idea is that each piece of furniture should have individuality and personality of its own.

Yes, you can break the so-called old "rules"—provided the whole effect creates a harmonious picture.

And, what makes a "harmonious picture" in your home? We invite you to come in, talk it over with us, and take advantage of our free decorator service. We'll be looking forward to seeing you.

Our decorators, here at Sterling Furniture in Westlake Shopping Center, are at your service no matter what your decorating problem may be. We are open Wednesday and Friday evenings 'til 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience.

Driver Assaulted, Girl Suspended

Oceanside High School authorities Monday suspended a 17-year-old girl accused of assaulting a bus driver who refused to let her board the vehicle.

Pacific police, who received a report of the incident at 2:30 p.m., said the victim is Mildred Walker, 45.

The bus driver told police she had banned the teen-ager from the vehicle about a month earlier for cursing at her, and refused to let her on yesterday morning.

The report indicated that at Oceanside High School the driver was greeted by the girl and a boy, who, Mrs. Walker said, began cursing her.

The girl, she charged, began pushing her. The victim started for the principal's office, but en route, inside the school building, the girl assertedly grabbed the woman by the hair, hit her in the left eye, jaw and forehead.

A teacher broke up the "scuffle."

Serramonte School Features Disclosed

Some features of the new Serramonte High School — to be sited on thirty acres now being filled between Skyline Boulevard and the Chinese Cemetery — were disclosed to Jefferson High School District trustees Monday night.

A representative of the firm of Corwin Booth and Associated Architects explained preliminary site usage ideas and facility planning.

A five-buildings-in-one concept will be employed, enabling persons to travel to every niche of the structure, protected always by a heavy, thick, noise-shielding roof.

This includes a cafeteria, gymnasium and proposed plunge, as well as classrooms, library, study areas and administrative zones.

And wall-to-wall carpeting will be installed. Administrators said this will add a high acoustical quality to the complex, which is being designed to offer complete flexibility of programming.

Walls throughout the building can be moved around, in five-foot increments, to fit future instructional needs in a relatively short time.

Similar walls at Jefferson High are moved around by custodians in as little time as twenty minutes, Superintendent Edward Morgan explained.

The plan has been described as "very tight" to utilize the site to its maximum.

Preliminary planning has grouped related study "disciplines" to separate blocks within the building. For instance, mathematics, machinery, social studies, English and foreign languages will be grouped in one classroom area; home economics, crafts, sciences and drafting in another.

Industrial arts will occupy still another, not too far from the other areas.

The basic engineering is similar to that of Westmoor High which has nearly parallel climatic, space and aircraft noise patterns, it was explained.

S.S.F., El Camino In Playoff Tilt Friday

S.S.F. Hi Thrashes Oceana

South San Francisco High School and El Camino, locked in a tie for first place in the North Peninsula League, clash Friday night in a playoff for the championship.

El Camino easily romped over winless Half Moon Bay Thursday, 26-0, and the Warriors continued their 28-game winning streak with a 52-0 victory over Oceana High School.

South San Francisco High School took about eight seconds to keep its unbeaten string alive Thursday night when it thrashed hapless Oceana High School at Clifton Field.

Tailback Tom Olmo took Oceana's opening kickoff and ran 85 yards for the Warriors' first of eight scores and it should have ended right then. The Warriors blasted six more points in the first quarter, added another 27 before halftime and, even though playing the second half with a running clock and the third string, added a final 13 points before the farce was over.

It was the Warriors' fourth North Peninsula League victory of the year.

Although playing less than half the game, S.S.F.'s Russ Cottrell amassed 105 yards rushing including the Warriors' second score, a stunning 52-yard run.

Oceana quarterbacks Val Sabuco and Harold Morton combined for 16 passes and completed seven — two to their own team and five to Warrior defenders. All in all, the Sharks could net only 11 yards in the air.

Meanwhile, the Warriors were smashing through the Sharks' defense for 222 yards rushing and another 96 yards in the air. The Sharks' effort all night netted them 40 yards worth of offense.

While Cottrell, Olmo and every other back was supplying plenty of offense, tackle Marty McDonough and Mike Lloyd applied crippling blows on defense.

The Warriors scored in every conceivable manner — runs, passes, pass interceptions, kick-off returns and punt returns in adding to the state's streak.

Within an eight-minute stretch in the second period end Alex Smith grabbed a 35-yard pass from quarterback Vince Olson for a score. Dale Kuerstman ran a punt back 45 yards for another. Vince Nash ran in from 15 yards out and Smith scored on a 32-yard pass interception. After that the 22-man Oceana squad just went through the motions while waiting for the time to run out.

Capuchino Hi Falls To Mills Vikings

The inability to score extra points, a weakness that has plagued many a football team since the advent of the sport, failed to bother Coach Jim Cox's Mills High Vikings a bit Friday night on the Burlingame Gridiron.

Although tallying only one PAT, the Norsemen more than made up for that deficiency with a whopping seven-touchdown outburst to completely dominate the game in crushing Capuchino's MPL regular season champion Mustangs 43-34 before a packed house of gravel voiced spectators.

Solid underdogs in this one, the Millbrae school made mincemeat of the Steeds' defensive line to rack up an awesome 457 yards rushing with Doug McKay (197 yards) and Phil Cleak (160 yards) leading the way.

Scoring 12 points in each of the first three periods, the Vikings went ahead to stay midway through the second quarter and then ran away and hid from the county's third ranked team in a contest that wasn't nearly as close as the score might lead you to believe.

Capuchino scored 13 points in the last minute of play against the Norse reserves to close the margin to the final nine point spread.

The loss was the first in league play for the round robin champions who now stand 5-1 while Mills (at 4-1-1) could finish second if Burlingame upsets San Mateo today in the "Little Big Game."

McKay, the league's leading rusher, moved his season total to 875 yards while scoring three touchdowns. Cleak, second leading MPL ground gainer, upped his total to 765 stripes in scoring one TD, and Mike Barr, Paul Sciabica and Tony Anzelc all contributed to the route with six pointers. Quarterback Barr ran in Mills' seventh conversion attempt after six consecutive failures (they tried everything, running, kicking, passing) to make for the "odd" score of 43 points.

Mike Costanzo, Capuchino's league leader in total offense, wrapped up first place in this statistical department with 264 yards passing. The Mustang quarterback threw 29 times, while completing 16. Twice the Steed signal caller connected with end Greg Hargis for touchdown tosses and he found Jim Kauffman with another that covered 26 yards and was Cap's longest scoring play. Mike Mathis ran in two TDs for the losers on jaunts of five and four yards.

Mills had complete control on the ground. Getting off 81 offensive plays to Capuchino's 54.

The Rams appeared to be staging a comeback when end John Sirianni caught a 33-yard pass and another Grady Proctor toss went to Gry asoules for 30 yards. But another Ram fumble gave the ball back to the Tigers.

Terra Nova led 13-6 at halftime.

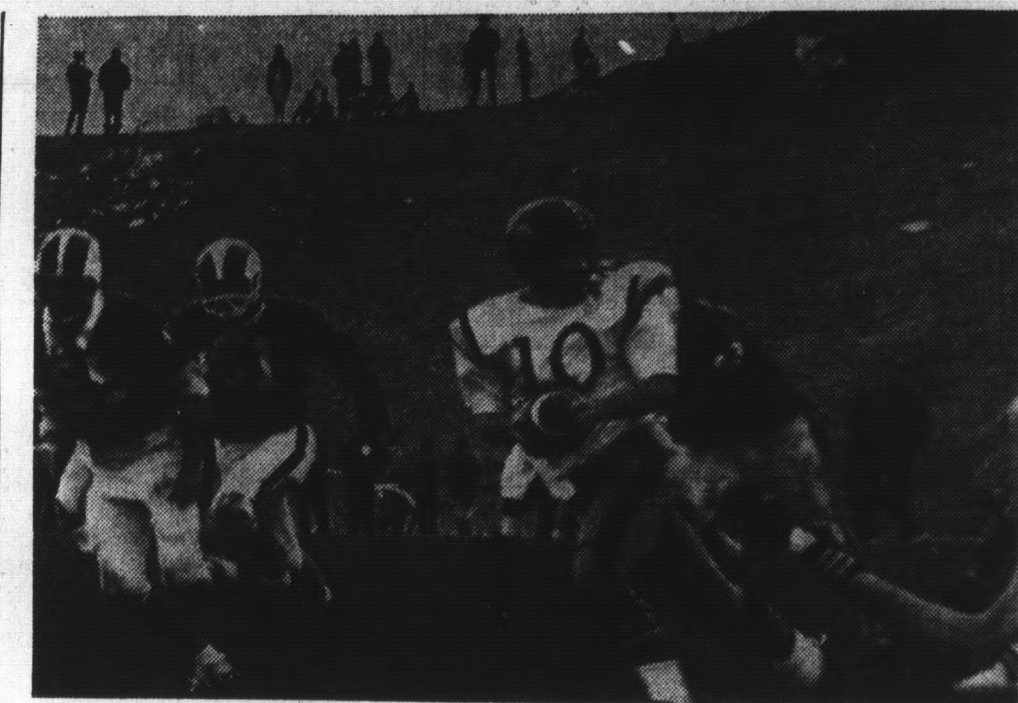

In the fourth quarter, Tiger fullback Dale Martin picked up his own fumble on the Terra Nova five-yard line and ran a record-breaking 95 yards for a touchdown. The performance was the longest touchdown run in the five year history of the North Peninsula League competition.

A few plays later, Terra Nova linemen caught the Rams' quarterback Proctor in his own end zone and scored a safety.

Westmoor finished up the scoring for the day with a 55-yard touchdown pass from Proctor to Sirianni.

Terra Nova, currently number three in league standings, will host fourth place Jefferson High School this week.

TERRA NOVA'S GARY TOPOLINSKI broke away on an end sweep for one of many long runs for the Tigers utilized in beating Westmoor 21-13 last Thursday. Westmoor lost several fumbles and allowed the Tigers to break away for a record 95-yard touchdown run in losing to an opponent that gained only one first down in the game. (Post Photo)

El Camino Beats Hapless H.M.B. Cougars, 26-0

To the surprise of none and delight of many, El Camino High School set the stage for a dramatic finish to the North Peninsula League Football season Friday.

The Colts romped to a 26-0 Coastside victory over winless Half Moon Bay to remain unbeaten in the NPL standings and pass their final prerequisite for a title showdown with their cross-town rival, South San Francisco. That contest will be played one week from tonight at Clifford Field.

The loss was Half Moon Bay's ninth in the same number of games and ended the cellar dweller's initial and frustrating season as a football member of the North County loop.

John Castellanos, who bashed over Half Moon Bay's defense for 148 yards on 20 carries, scored three touchdowns and booted a conversion point to pace the colts' triumph.

He scored once on a 14-yard run and twice more on rushes of four yards each. The Colts' first touchdown came on a 60-yard run by Jim Teams, who averaged over 10 yards per carry on 123 yards in a dozen attempts. Together, Teams and Castellanos accounted for all of El Camino's 271 yards rushing.

The win gave El Camino a 5-0 record for the season thus far.

While Half Moon Bay finished the season without a win, the gutsy Cougars' day is bound to come, a prospect which El Camino's Bob Sexton, may live to regret.

El Camino's first offensive unit played nearly the entire game from start to finish, even though the issue was beyond doubt, midway through the third quarter. Of such tactics, revenge is made.

It may be less grand than most station wagons. But it's also about a grand less.

If you're looking for a miniature moving van, our Squareback Sedan isn't it. Even with its back seat folded down it only holds half as much as the average station wagon.

Which means you can't lug 30 pieces of luggage. Or a full-sized double bed.

But maybe you just need a car that can carry 15 valises. Or a full-sized single bed. Then you can save a lot of money with a Squareback Sedan.

It costs only $2395* And it not only goes for less than most conventional wagons to begin with, it keeps on going for less.

A Squareback travels about 27 miles on a gallon of gas. It takes 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts. It never needs an ounce of anti-freeze, because it's cooled by air. It should get a good 35,000 miles on a set of tires. And it avoids repair bills like a... well, like a Volkswagen.

So before you go out and buy some station wagon that has twice as much space as you really need, ask yourself this question:

Is the extra grandness worth an extra grand?

If we may get literary for a few pages, we'd like to quote from Ernest Hemingway's great bullfight book, "Death in the Afternoon," which he wrote in the mid-30's. There is one particular passage in which he is talking of the "goldenage" of bullfighting which was, naturally, in the '20's, and he says:

"Historians speak highly of all dead bullfighters. To read any history of the great fighters of the past it would seem impossible that they ever had bad days or that the public was ever dissatisfied with them. . . . During what you now hear referred to as the golden age of all golden ages . . . there was a generally expressed opinion (then) that things were in a bad way."

HE then goes on to trace all of the "golden ages" of bullfighting, only to discover that each age claimed to be in decline, until the next age, when the previous one would be looked upon as "golden."

Does it all sound familiar? Just substitute "bull-fighter" for prize fighter or baseball player, or whatever the favorite spot of the neighborhood old-timer who remembers only the best, most exciting parts of his youth.

HEMINGWAY'S own subsequent description of the decline of bullfighting and bullfighters reminds of more recent descriptions of the decline of boxing. He says the bullfighters "nowadays" aren't as courageous as they once were, substitute style for talent, don't take anything but safe chances, fool the public with fancy tricks, choose only small, relatively well-mannered bulls to fight, etc.

And of course, the arenas may be getting fancier, the fans just don't really any longer understand the fine points of the fight. They want only blood, not class.

But Hemingway says some unique things about bullfighting, too, which can also apply to contemporary sports philosophy. One very perceptive remark he makes is that, when a bullfighter dies, unlike any other art (or sport), his art dies with him. He leaves nothing behind but memory, and memory can be inaccurate.

Perhaps that is the very reason why sports which depend so much on record books will never die with their heroes. Because, like painters and writers, the heroes leave behind them graphic proof of what they did.

HEMINGWAY, incidentally, would have loved San Francisco State's Bob Kaffke, who is now on campus teaching a class in the famous Experimental College entitled, "The Latin American Revolution."

Kaffke's qualified. He spent his summer vacation traveling with Guatemalan guerrilla forces. Kaffke, who besides "observing" the revolution, taught reading and writing to the troops, is also a painter and author, having written a book entitled, "59 to Cuba," about his experiences during the Cuban revolution, when he was one of those 59 United States college students who went to Cuba in 1963. Needless to say, sales of the book have been banned in this country. Kaffke is also a member of the Ramparts magazine staff, working on an article about the assassination of President Kennedy.

So what does all this have to do with sports? Everything. As an undergraduate at State, Kaffke was a physical education major, played football and then boxed professionally to work his way through college. And at one time, he was considered a pretty fair prospect.

Not that we deny Kaffke's right to hang around guerrilla camps and such, but with boxing the way it is nowadays, we figure he would have gotten ahead a lot faster by sticking to the ring. It's less fatal to get your head knocked off than blown off.

THE WAY you see some of these little guys hit golf balls these days, you begin to wonder if the rabbit hasn't gotten into those, too. But you feel better when you see the little guys — just like the big ones — flub their score on the little putts . . . the real secret of the game because they take nerves more than skill, and there are more skillful people around, than there are truly nervy ones.

WHY is it there hasn't been a successful left-handed pro quarterback around since Frankie Albert? Good lefties certainly aren't scarce in baseball.

UNUSUAL BASKETBALL ITEM: There are two men from the same college team (USF) who are now NBA head coaches — Bill Russell of Boston and Mike Farmer of Baltimore. Add the Warriors' Bill Sharman, and virtually one-third of the NBA coaches are from the Coast.

Last week our Football Register arrived, and you were thus treated to tidbits from that. This week our NBA Guide arrived, so you can guess. But since the Football Register cost $5 and the basketball guide only $1, you only have to suffer through one-fifth as much of our getting our money's worth, as you did last week.

To us the most interesting argument in basketball is trying to decide who's better — Jerry West or Elgin Baylor. Keeping in mind that Baylor's been slowed down with knee problems the past couple of years, perhaps the following career statistics of the two will help you to make a decision:

	FG	FT	Point	Rebound	Assist
	Pct.	Pct.	Avg.	Avg.	Avg.
West	46.4	78.8	27.6	8.0	5.3
Baylor	42.4	78.0	28.6	14.7	4.2

And just to prove that real stars react even more spectacularly under pressure, here are their playoff games stats:

	FG	FT	Point	Rebound	Assist
	Pct.	Pct.	Avg.	Avg.	Avg.
West	48.4	81.3	31.3	7.2	5.0
Baylor	44.2	80.3	31.4	14.1	3.9

Alright, Oscar Robertson fans, alright:

	FG	FT	Point	Rebound	Assist
	Pct.	Pct.	Avg.	Avg.	Avg.
Reg. Season	48.4	83.2	30.4	10.4	10.7
Playoffs	45.6	86.7	30.3	9.9	9.2

Come to any conclusions? If you have, you're crazy.

INSURANCE accident reports show that the 10 most dangerous sports are: 1. football; 2. baseball; 3. winter sports; 4. basketball; 5. skating; 6. boating and canoeing; 7. golf; 8. horseback riding; 9. gymnastics activities; 10. fishing and hunting. We KNEW Bob Kaffke should have stuck to boxing. But then, guerrilla warfare didn't make the top 10, either.

P.S., OSCAR ROBERTSON FANS: Kindly keep in mind that Robertson has no teammate with whom to statistically compete. The big stats are left all to him.

Flashy Contest Between Two Prep Grid Teams

By STEVE DAVIDSON
Post Correspondent

In theory, the brand of football practiced by the professionals is the ultimate in sports excitement, and anyone so foolish to suggest that high school games can offer as many thrills is immediately classified as a candidate for the Funny Farm.

The pros, however, could do worse than emulate the zany, wild, and record-shattering contest played Friday between the prep gridders of Terra Nova and Westmoor.

Terra Nova emerged with a 21-13 victory in a North Peninsula League game that was marked by five touchdowns, the shortest of which was scored on a 51-yard pass. Before the fourth quarter had ended, fans at Westmoor field had witnessed touchdowns on runs of 88, 57, and 97 yards, and a fumble return of 75 yards. The winners even got a safety.

Westmoor's John Sirianni

Jeff Loses, S.S.F. C's Win Crown

Jefferson's "C's" basketball team was knocked out of first-place tie with South San Francisco by Terra Nova in the last game of the season at Terra Nova, 34-33.

Jeff controlled the game the first half as Coach Kelly's Indians built up as much as a 15-point lead. But when Terra Nova came out the second half with their full-court press and an extremely hot shooting hand that half-time lead melted away.

South San Francisco captured the league title with a record of 8-2, while Jeff was second with a record of 1-3. Westmoor and Terra Nova were tied for third with records of 5-5; Oceana, fourth at 3-7; El Camino, fifth, at 2-8.

Season Scoring: Furtch, 115; Conway, 86; Golden, 75; Macia, 44; Mjehovich, 43; Berry, 15; Rolling, 10, and Wong, 1.

Westlake Bowl

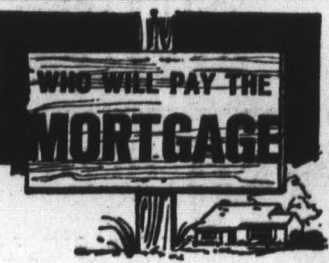

Young Gina Diamond became the proud owner of a U.S. Savings Bond for being the 75,000th child to be placed in the Westlake Bowl Child Care Room since the opening of the bowl eight years ago.

Marie Ratto and Mary Paxton again "howled up a storm" in the Ladies 850 Scratch League with series of 663 and 632. Marie had two games of 223 and a 217 third game while Mary shot 167-223 and 242. More and more spectators are on hand each Monday evening to watch the bowlers in this highest average ladies' league in the Bay Area.

Another repeat leader was Jack Billmire who led the Canco League for the second consecutive week, this time with a 633 series on games of 237-191 and 205.

Bowlers in the Golden Gate Handicap League witnessed a "once in a lifetime shot as Moe Brazil of the Taraval Service team converted the almost impossible 4-6 split. George Ferreboeuf again topped the league with a 627 series on a high game of 220.

Two new league highs were set Tuesday night as many 600 series were posted. In the Ladies Invitational League, Joyce Rogers rolled games of 216-189 and 204 for a new high of 609. At the same time, Dave Pansini was setting new high game and series marks with 243 and 638. Dave's other two games were 200 and 195.

New Half Moon Bay Church

Officials of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses, have announced that the Pacifica Congregation has been divided and a new congregation formed. The new group will be known as the Half Moon Bay Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Edward R. Sheehan of El Granada, former presiding minister of the Pacifica congregation, has been named to head the new group. Taking his place in Pacifica, is Carl B. Deaton, a long-time associate minister with Sheehan.

According to Deaton, the division was made because the original group had grown so large that it was difficult to seat everyone at their meetings. "We have had standing room only for the past several months," he stated.

Health Service Worker To Speak at P-TA Meet

Mrs. Anita Fross, Coordinator of Health Services, South San Francisco Unified School District will be the guest speaker at the Alta Loma P-TA General Meeting November 17 at 8 p.m. Her topic will be "Family Life Education."

Mrs. Fross is a Registered Nurse, a South San Francisco resident, and has three children in our school system. She has been working on this course of study since the decision to pre-tricts are working on a similar program. We in P-TA feel it is necessary to give children some information on how to live in the world.

Although Mrs. Fross will be speaking primarily to the parents of Junior High School students, she will explain the entire project and how it fits into the present curriculum. Questions will be answered of course.

To be sure you know what will be taught as well as how this will be accomplished, won't you join us on November 17 at 8 p.m.?

Refreshments will be served.

Special WSQS

Program At
D.C. Church

Mrs. David Pierce, president of the W.S.Q.S. announces that a special program is being planned for the Wesley Methodist Church of Daly City Fourth Annual Holiday Tea, which will be held December 10th, 1 p.m., in the new church at 1474 Southgate Avenue.

The double trio of the Treble-tones, a community women's chorus, accompanied by Mrs. Mae Faulkner, will sing holiday songs followed by a reading by Mrs. Virginia De Francis.

A small combo lead by Richard Pena, recent graduate of Westmoor High School, now attending San Mateo J.C., will provide holiday atmosphere as well as the decorations by Mrs. Robert Abbott, and gift sale items made by members and friends of the church.

A visit from Santa Claus will climax the afternoon with a gift for each child. Tea and refreshments will be served following the program. The donation is $1 for adults, fifty cents for children.

Club's Board

Members Visit

S.F. School

The executive board of Terra Nova High School's Future Business Leaders of America Club recently traveled to Balboa High School in San Francisco.

The purpose of this trip was to explain the fundamental principles of the F.B.L.A. Club, and the duties and activities which are necessary for a successful chapter.

At the last regular meeting of T.N.'s Future Business Leaders, the club was fortunate enough to have Miss Joyce Dodge, recruiter for the Navy Waves as their guest speaker.

Miss Dodge spoke of requirements and the unlimited opportunities offered by the Waves to girls with a high school diploma or a college degree.

The members then had an opportunity to ask any questions they had about the Waves, following the meeting.

Pacifica Players Plan January 16 Production

Performance dates for their next production, "The Night of January 16," by Ayn Rand, were announced this week by the Pacifica Players. Scheduled to run for three weekends on Saturday and Sunday nights at Oddstad Center in Linda Mar, the opening performance is set for Saturday, January 7.

Since its debut at New York's Ambassador Theatre in September of 1935, "The Night of January 16" has played to capacity houses throughout the country both professional and little theatre.

Contributing to the interest of this stimulating courtroom drama, is a play plan, unique in the theatre, which gets the audience into the act so that they are in the position of spectators, as in a real courtroom.

In fact the jury for the performance is actually drawn from the audience, which evokes some interesting results. For example, experience of other theatre groups has shown that, at some performances, the jury votes for acquittal, while at others, they stand for conviction.

Regardless of the verdict, the play is certain to cause considerable conversation, and a build-up of community interest, as most people want to see for themselves how they would react to the parade of witnesses and the evidence presented.

Director Charlene Amick, assisted by Gilda Forster, is now rehearsing the cast of twenty, the largest ever assembled by the Players in their eight-year history.

Society Plans

RUMMAGE SALE

Louanne's Datebook

By LOUANNE HEATH

SOCIAL POTPOURRI in mid-November! Everything from fashion shows to parish retreats fill the North County Datebook as the month of November enters its second half.

There will be a meeting of the Altar and Rosary Sodality of the Church of the Good Shepherd tonight, according to Mrs. Carmen Prowse, publicity chairman.

The meeting will begin following a Mission in the church by Father Joseph O'Gara, S.J. The parish retreat will begin at 7:30 p.m., Mrs. Prowse said.

Sunday, coffee and doughnuts will be served in the parish hall following the 8:30 a.m. Mass for Sodality members.

TOMORROW IS the big day for the members of the North Peninsula Circle for the Florence Crittenton Home.

The fourth annual Fall Fantasy fashion show and luncheon will be presented in the Sheraton-Thunderbolt Hotel with Mrs. Robert Mahoney and Mrs. John Wuerthner, co-chairmen, presiding over the festive occasion.

Mrs. Harry O'Neil, model chairman, has announced that Mrs. P. Evert Terminello, Mrs. Fred Pratt, Mrs. Roert Washford, Mrs. Troy Daniels, Mrs. Charles Poggio, Mrs. Albert Polonsky, Mrs. Frank Greenwood, Mrs. Phillip Glebow, Mrs. William Rosener, Mrs. Richard Coltrill, Mrs. Edward Odenthal and Miss Viviane Rieger, the reigning Miss Daly City, will be wearing the fashionable attire from the collection of The Fashion in Westlake. Furs by Minudri Furs of San Francisco will also be worn by the ladies.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Barbara Vollers, 756-1841, or Mrs. Lois Parker, 992-1816. All proceeds from the event are donated to the Florence Crittenton Home.

DALY CITY EDUCATORS seem to be taking advantage of a number of workshops these days. South San Francisco's Mrs. Ruthild Candee, the director of the Lakeside Presbyterian Church Nursery School, and Mrs. Gertrude Madrosen, of Daly City, a member of the staff of the Daly City Elementary School District's pre-kindergarten, attended the annual conference of the California Association for the Education of Young Children, which was held at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles this past weekend.

Mrs. Gladys James, also a teacher in the summer Head Start Program and the existing pre-kindergarten program, was the local delegate to the National Council of Negro Women Inc.'s thirty-first annual convention. The meeting was held last weekend in the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. James is president of the San Francisco Chapter of the National Council of Negro Women and a member of the Daly City Association of Childhood Education.

MRS. RAYMOND FELLMAN and Mrs. John Flemer, co-chairmen of the Holy Angels' Women Guild rummage sale, to be held this weekend in the Holy Angels Parish Hall, are still collecting rummage for the sale.

Anyone wishing to contribute should phone the chairman, 755-2127, or 756-9467, for information.

MRS. WILLIAM CORBETT, famous for her beautifully conceived and executed Christmas decorations which she donates to the Mary's Help Hospital Guild Boutique de Noel, has suffered a fractured wrist, according to word from her Boutique co-chairman Mrs. Frank Falconi.

Mrs. Corbett, however, has succeeded in working one-handed and the resulting trees and centerpieces are lovelier than ever before, according to word from privileged insiders who have already sneaked a peek at the items going on sale this weekend in the Westlake Clubhouse.

The Boutique de Noel will preview with a reservations-only reception on Friday evening at 8 and the sale will continue, open to the public, on Saturday and Sunday.

Persons wishing to make reservations for the preview may do so by phoning Mrs. Falconi, 755-8368, according to Mrs. Clifton West, publicity chairman.

Morgan Gives Up Gavel To New Chamber Prexy

By WILL THOMAS

Edward Morgan has exchanged his Daly City Chamber of Commerce gavel for a golf bag and a wrist watch.

Morgan was honored as outgoing president at the chamber's annual dinner at the Olympic Club Saturday night, attended by nearly 140 members and guests.

The president of Systematic Savings and Loan, John Wuerthner, now possesses the gavel yielded by Morgan.

Wuerthner shares the leadership with First Vice President Don Monson, Second Vice President Elio Fontana and veteran Treasurer William Sweeney Jr., and a 20-member board.

Morgan, superintendent of the Jefferson High School District, which administers schools in Daly City and Pacifica, was described briefly as "articulate, capable, honest and meticulous" by Paul Hupf, Daly City attorney who was master of ceremonies.

Morgan in return credited "any success we have had" during his term to his board of directors.

As guests dined, Morgan received a golf bag from the chamber he headed and a wrist watch from the high school's board of trustees, for which he works.

The watch was presented as a surprise by Elio Fontana in his role as a Jefferson High trustee, "for his service to others."

Four other awards were made during the get-together. Special life membership presentations went to Mrs. Jean Markovich, wife of chamber secretary, manager Pete Markovich, and to Jack Kendree, executive director of the Henry Doelger shopping centers.

Both were praised for their active civic contributions. Retiring directors Armando Zirpili and Charles Maroosis were presented placques by the chamber for their service.

Dignitaries attending the dinner included Congressman J. Arthur Younger, State Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, Supervisor-elect Robert St. Clair, and representatives of Daly City school districts and city council.

Jefferson Elementary MENU

Officials of the Jefferson Elementary School District released this menu for November 17 through November 23:

November 17—Torpedo sandwich, lettuce and tomato salad, spicy applesauce, frosted cake.

November 18—Macaroni and cheese delight, savory green beans, mixed green salad, hot bread, margarine, ice cream.

November 21—Sloppy Joe on bun, mixed green salad, fresh fruit.

November 22—Pilgrim's Turkey with gravy, whipped potato, Plymouth Rock vegetables, hot bread, margarine, ice cream.

November 23—Hot dog on bun, potato salad, sliced tomatoes, fruit, frosted cake.

Auxiliary Gives 'Youth, Adults Working Together,' P-TA Theme Girl Scout Unit a Flag

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion No. 410 of Daly City has presented Junior Troop 476 its flag.

Included with the presentation was a demonstration of the colors ceremony and the use and care of the flag.

Troop 476 is made up of girls from Vista Mar School, and is under the leadership of Mrs. David Parker.

Service project for the year for this troop will be the collecting and mailing of magazines for service personnel in Viet Nam through the USO.

On November 2, former members of Brownie Troop 736 of the Vista Grande School were flown up in a ceremony held at the school's multi-use room.

Mrs. Ben Sandoval presented the girls with their Brownie Wings. Walking over the stepping stones marked "Friend Maker," "Ready Helper" and "Discoverer," which signify their further pursuits in scouting, the girls were welcomed into Junior Girl Scouts by the leader of Troop 442, Mrs. Robert Carlascio, Mrs. Helga Greifeld, assistant leader, presented the girls with their Girl Scout pins at Investiture.

"Youth and Adults Working Together" is the theme of this year's P-TA efforts at the Terra Nova High School in Pacifica.

As a planned continuation of the Pacifica Town Meeting on Juvenile Delinquency, and to carry out this theme, the Terra Nova P-TA will capsule the town meeting in their November meeting tomorrow at the Terra Nova High School Cafeteria.

Guest speaker will be Floyd Gonella, principal of Thornton High School in Daly City and one of the key planners of the Town Meeting October 8.

Gonella will voice the main topics touched upon by the keynote speakers of the juvenile delinquency panel and introduce the "workshop" participants.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Batteff of San Francisco, parents of Mrs. William Loskutoff, 947 Wyandotte Avenue, Daly City, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday with a party at the First Russian Molokan Church.

The prayer service and tea party was attended by more than 250 friends and relatives, including Mrs. Loskutoff and three other daughters, Mrs. Max Popoff, Lincoln, Calif.; Mrs. Byrie Quinby, Sacramento, and Mrs. Jack Christiansen, Newark, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Batteff, natives of Russia, have lived in California for 30 years.

NEWLYWEDS MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR HERMOSILLO

Geraldine Arnold Is Newlywed

The former Miss Geraldine Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hermosillo of Daly City, and Heike B. Golisch exchanged vows September 12 at the Westlake Lutheran Church.

The bride is a graduate of Jefferson High School. Golisch attended school in Germany.

Mrs. Ardanele Felts was matron of honor, with Miss Lani Rudzikowski serving as bridesmaid.

Erwin Imhof was best man, and Arthur W. Hermosillo, a brother of the bride, served as usher.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her bouquet was white carnations and lilies of the valley with white orchids in the center.

Special guest at the wedding was the groom's mother, Mrs. Heinrich Golisch, of Germany.

A reception was held at the Lazy V Restaurant in San Bruno, and the couple departed for their wedding trip to Lake Tahoe.

They will reside in Oakland.

Film Showing At Aldersgate Methodist Church Dinner

The first local showing of "IVS Viet Nam, Commitment to Growth" filmed, produced and edited by Mr. and Mrs. David Colyer, was after the Fall Festival Dinner of the Aldersgate Methodist Church recently. Deciding to tell the story of life among the Vietnamese while serving International Volunteer Service's visual aid education program in Viet Nam Colyer and his wife, Phyllis, a teacher of English at a public high school for boys in Kha-Trang, wanted to show a more personal involvement approach rather than a travelogue. The film is centered around the activities of IVS worker Gene Stoltfus of Aurora, Ohio. The film plots the IVS Worker's life among the Vietnamese while he tries to teach them modern methods of agriculture, personal hygiene, care for the sick and injured and the rudiments of reading.

"It's a ground-level society," Colyer said. Their manner of doing everyday tasks are the most rudimentary. Everything happens on the ground, he added. Eating, cooking, religion, open-air shopping in a local market place—it all happens on the natural floor. Colyer, a member of Aldersgate Methodist, graduated from South San Francisco High School where he participated in many stage productions and continued his education at the University of California majoring in dramatic arts.

The cover keeps the humidity high and the heating cable provides the necessary warmth. You will have the most ideal condition for propagating plants, and even some of those "difficult" house plants will root with ease.

3 — Go automatic. Most home greenhouses today have thermostatically controlled heat and ventilation. Add automatic watering and you will be able to leave your greenhouse unattended for several weeks at a time, for vacations or visiting. There are many systems available for Orlyt greenhouses for both pot and bench crops. When connected to a time clock, plants are properly watered every day at the same time.

Keys to Greenhouse Variety Are Revealed

The home greenhouse is a literal "Pandora's box" when you count the many different plants that can be grown in a relatively small area. The following tips from Lord & Burham greenhouse manufacturers on how you can get even more fun and plants packed into a small garden under glass.

1 — Separate your greenhouse into "growth" zones. We know that all plants do not like to grow at the same temperature. If you check the temperature in your greenhouse, you will find that it varies from place to place, meaning that you can grow plants with different temperature "likes" in the same greenhouse.

Hang half a dozen or so inexpensive thermometers around the greenhouse. You'll soon see there are different "zones" such as Hot (60 degrees); Moderate (50 to 55 degrees); and Cool (45 to 50 degrees). Then check your greenhouse growing guide to see what plants you can grow in each zone. More than 150 plants suitable to home greenhouses are described in the growing guide and you have a wide choice for each zone. It is possible to have "Hot" zone orchids and "Cool" carnations in the same greenhouse.

2 — Construct a separate propagating case. Starting seeds, cuttings and grafts (virtually impossible outdoors) is one of the most fascinating aspects of a greenhouse. It is much more fun when results are almost 100 per cent, which is possible with a special propagating case in the greenhouse. This is nothing more than a

Brighten The Garden For Winter

One of the nicest things about gardening on the Peninsula is the color we get from various annuals and shrubs in winter. While gardeners in other areas are huddling indoors, we can be out picking bouquets of many kinds of flowers.

If you plant now, for instance, you can have winter color from three annuals which are very easy to grow and care for. They are the Iceland Poppy, Calendula and Fairy Primrose. There are others, to be sure, but these are consistently among the top performers in winter, in this area.

To be technical, the Iceland Poppy is actually a perennial, but we treat it as an annual on the Peninsula, sowing new seed each summer of setting out nursery transplants in the fall. Its period of bloom depends on how much growing it gets in the fall, but Peninsula gardeners can normally expect to be picking long stemmed cups of color from their Iceland Poppies early in the New Year.

Calendulas are almost a year-round thing on the Peninsula, and their golden colors are most appreciated in winter. Here again the young plants need as much growing time as possible if you want color early in the New Year. The original bright orange and yellow blooms of the Pot Marigold have been softened by hybridizing in recent years, but you'll still find calendulas producing your brightest color in winter.

Men's Garden Club Meeting

The Men's Garden Club of San Mateo County has planned a Christmas party for men only, an innovation for this group, which has annually splurged with a big dinner party for the wives of members, during the holiday season.

December 8, has been chosen for a gala dinner meeting at Bob's on Broadway to celebrate Christmas. Attendance will be limited to members and their male guests. Members are requested to bring a door prize, a regular part of the monthly meetings, and a wrapped gift for exchange out of a "grab bag." These gifts are to be toys that can later be passed on to grandchildren, or be donated to the community gift collection.

The party will start at 7 p.m., followed by a 7:30 p.m. dinner. New officers for 1967 are: Eugene O. Brose, president; Archie J. Kashubeck, vice president; Kenneth M. Scheu, secretary, and Milton J. Tichter, treasurer. The 1967 board of gardeners are: Charles F. Kunz, George N. Keyston, Frank V. Tinker, Sidney Le Feill, Matt S. O'Brien, and Sam Campagna.

Agriculture Is Spurred By New Developments

The dynamic growth of California agriculture has resulted largely from the rapid application of new developments in science and technology, according to Clark Kerr, president of the University of California.

Efficient use of farm land has been an important factor, he said, enabling productivity to rise steadily, although some 375 acres of open land are swallowed by urbanization every day.

Kerr spoke at the dedication of the Paul Masson Pinnacles Vineyard, located in a new wine growing territory developed as a result of university research. Paul Masson and other vintners sought new locations when it became apparent some years ago that traditional vineyards in California were threatened by encroaching subdivisions.

With respect to agricultural research, Kerr said, "when the University was founded at Berkeley in 1868, agriculture was the first college established as an academic unit. Today California is the No. one agricultural state in the union, and agriculture is our biggest business."

Along with related businesses, it contributes $15 billion annually to our economy.

"Agriculture and the complex of industries built upon and around it draw upon the research of the entire university, from the agricultural sciences and from all the sciences," he added.

Philodendron Chosen 'Plant Of the Week'

The "plant of the week" this week in San Mateo County is the split-leaf philodendron, one of the best indoor-outdoor plants for the Peninsula area.

The Philodendron makes a handsome accent for planting for a front entrance and thrives on a minimum of light. It can be grown in most Peninsula gardens, and is a favorite of landscape architects for "bringing the outdoors inside."

LITTLE BULBS MAKE gigantic impressions. Grow 'Little' Bulbs for Color On Cold and Gray Days

By IVA NEWMAN

Now that we have had our first good rain it is time to give serious thought to bulb planting for spring color in the garden. In our Peninsula area, as well as the cold areas where the winter snows are slow in disappearing, it is the "little" bulbs that first proclaim that another summer is on the way, for they are the first to bloom.

It doesn't take a large area to have an exciting planting of these "little" bulbs. In fact, if your planting space is no larger than a playpen or a window box you have room for some of these unusual but beautiful early spring bloomers.

There are so many kinds and types that there is always one especially suited for that small but special place in the garden. They grow to different heights and bloom at different times (January to early summer), and most of them will multiply and spread without special thought or care. In addition, they are inexpensive regardless of whether you buy them by the dozen or by the hundreds.

As more and more Peninsula gardeners try their luck with one or two of the "little" bulbs, the fame of these dainty garden gems spreads until within a few years we hope to have this area as colorful as many of the garden spots of Europe. If you live in an apartment, grow some of these bulb gems in a pot, they respond beautifully to pot culture.

Most every gardener is familiar with the Crocus, Grape Hyacinth, Snowdrop and Snowflake (many people think the latter two are the same bulb, they aren't but they are closely related and they are "look-alikes" but there are two differences: the snowdrop has the green tips only on the inner flower segments, the three larger, outer segments have no green tips. The snowflake's segments are all alike.) The Snowdrop or Galanthus blooms much earlier than the Snowflake or Leucojum. Both of these grow from 12 to 15 inches high and are lovely when used under or around shrubs and trees, in small pockets in the rock garden or seven to eight bulbs in a five-inch pot.

Arrangers Like Alliums

Last spring we were quite surprised to see so many flower arrangers using alliums in their flower designing. The alliums are ornamental onions. They have a slight onion odor but it is noticeable only when the foliage is crushed. It is such a large group (some five hundred or more species), that we suggest you try only one or at most two varieties at a time until you find just the one that suits your needs. The ones we saw being used last spring were: Allium aflatunense which blooms in late April or May and produces spherical clusters of deep lilac flowers on two foot stems; and Allium giganteum that has six to seven-inch "balls" of bright lilac blooms on four to five foot stems in July.

The Anemone is among the gayest of spring flowers. There are many different kinds of anemones, varying greatly in appearance from the early, low-growing species with their delicate rayed flowers, to the large flowered florists' types. Anemone blanda, with small starry flowers of deep blue, clear pink or white on six to eight-inch stems is about the earliest blooming. Anemone coronaria and the deCaen strain are among the best known of the large-flowered types. We like to plant anemones in small clumps or groups as they are more easily protected from the birds and they give a vivid accent or color to an otherwise drab corner. Give anemone tubers a covering of two to three inches of soil.

The Crocus has been the most popular of the "little" bulbs ever since it came to America from Greece via Holland. The yellow and white species usually flower first. We have had these in bloom in late January. The blues and purples come next. There are some six different kinds of early spring crocuses, ranging from gold to lilac and blue and purple. Plant these little bulbs four inches deep and four inches apart.

One of the most charming of the "little" bulbs that we have grown is the Erythronium Deniscan or Dog's Tooth violet. The flowers come in delicate shades ranging from white to pink and purples. Their marbled leaves make attractive foliage even after the April blooms are gone. Plant these three to four inches deep in clusters in the shadier and more sheltered areas of the garden. They are especially delightful with rocks.

Fritillaria meleagris, sometimes called the "Checkered Lily", has curious markings on the six pointed squared off, drooping bells, two or three of which appear on each ten to twelve inch leafy stem. This species comes in white, light chartreuse tones, and in reddish brown and purples with deeper markings. They, too, like the cooler spots in the rock garden or under trees and shrubs. Give them a three-inch covering of soil. The giant fritillaria imperialis or "Crown Imperial" should be planted eight inches deep in groups of five to seven, in hemi-shade.

If you are an Iris fan you will enjoy Iris reticulata which produces delicately shaped violet flowers on seven inch stems in late February and March. Each violet purple fall has a bright golden orange beard and the blooms have the fragrance of violets. Just as hardy and fragrant is its yellow counterpart, Iris danfordiae, which grows about five inches tall, and blooms in late February. Plant both of these iris four inches deep and about three inches apart.

The Muscari or "Grape Hyacinth" is well known for its pagoda-like flower of myriads of tiny blue bells. Flowering time is from February to March. Few gardeners know about the feathery plumed, amethyst colored muscari plumosum which is a most unusual and excellent cut flower.

COMMENTRegional Airport
District Need

DEFEAT OF THE $95,500,000 bond issue for needed expansion of International Airport by San Francisco voters on Tuesday confronts the counties of the Bay Area with a problem that imperatively demands solution. The defeat of this bond issue, despite the fact that it was promised that it would bring no new taxes, makes it apparent that the people of San Francisco will no longer accept the role of sole fiscal guarantors for a vital public facility that is being shared by the whole bay region.

Their reluctance is understandable. For a long time, many of them have felt that they are providing benefits for San Mateo County and other Bay Area counties at San Francisco's expense. Beyond this, San Franciscans themselves no longer conceive International Airport to be an exclusive function of their own city. They see it for what it really is, one of the world's most important regional air terminals. The time has come for the people of San Mateo and other adjoining counties to share this true perspective and to realize the responsibility it entails.

Even if the bond issue had passed, the funds it would have provided were far too meager to meet the expansion needs of International Airport, let alone the fresh needs that will be imposed by the imminence of the supersonic era of air transport and the coming aerial dominance of the whole transport field. The defeat merely serves to precipitate a problem that can no longer be dodged or glossed over.

The only possible solution to this problem is the immediate formation of a Regional Airport District. It is a solution that cannot wait upon the moves now being made toward formulation of a regional government or authority of even broader scope. The Association of Bay Area Governments and other organizations now moving toward this goal could make a tremendous stride forward by dealing with the airports' problem as a matter of first immediacy with a prospect of fitting it later into any regional government.

Within two years the airlines will be using giant new planes with up to four times present passenger and cargo capacities. The huge supersonic planes that will dwarf world distances will go into use early in the next decade. Meanwhile, every passing day without practical effort to meet the impending needs will be sure to cost heavily.

International Airport is already inadequate to meet the needs of two years hence. The supersonic planes will require new airports in outlying locations that can be quickly connected to central facilities by still other new aircraft intended for this purpose.

Quick action now can avert wasteful competition between counties actually concerned with the same end result—the provision of the best and most convenient air transport facilities. Acting in concert, through a Regional Airport District, they can achieve this end sooner, better and at far less expense. Moreover, such action could hasten bringing into being the vast privately operated complexes of services and supply that will be necessary to supplement publicly owned facilities.

Time is the essential factor. There must be action now. It is up to the leadership of all the bay counties to do what has to be done and to do it at once.

A Young
Director

Barbara Bladen

Today's international film makers are not angry young men in the same sense the legitimate stage playwrights were 12 years ago.

But they are young. Roman Polanski, a 33-year-old director, rose to prominence in less than 10 years. Born in Paris, he returned to Poland at the age of three and was a child actor from 1947 to 1953, following the dread years of concentration camps and political devastation.

He talked of his work at the San Francisco Film Festival, following an afternoon of film clips, several of which have not yet been seen in the United States.

"I'm asked why I deal with themes of dark humor. That is not for me to say. Maybe a psychiatrist could explain it. My themes are not negative. They deal with love and death, the same subjects that preoccupied the Greeks."

A boyish-looking, slight-framed man, he is very familiar with American films but won't admit that he was unduly influenced by any of them. His creative influence came from playwrights Pinter and Ionesco, more than any film style. And he always employs stage actors in his films, rather than movie stars.

"Stage actors like to work hard. They stay late at night, always come to work full of ideas and enthusiasm and are more interesting to direct."

POLANSKI IS AN ALUMNUS of the state-controlled Film School in Lodz where his now-famous film, "Two Men and a Wardrobe," was made as a graduation exercise. It won the Golden Gate Award at the S.F. Film Festival in 1958 in the Best Creative Experimental Film category.

The autocratic perfectionist whose passionate and restless nature are trademarks of his film work, studied every phase of motion picture production during the five years at Film School.

ROBERT ROCHE, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Roche, 1039 Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City, and Jody Micheletti, right, seven-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Micheletti, 228 Bel Haven, Daly City, are among 50 students currently enrolled in the Burlingame School for the Deaf. Jody is practicing speech and reading with the aid of special hearing devices utilized at school. Robert Bryant, center, is a seven-year-old student from Redwood City.

Aid for Deaf Children

By DON GRIERSON

Twenty-four deaf children from North Peninsula cities are enrolled this year in the Burlingame School District's School for the Deaf.

The handicapped children attend special classes, concentrating on "oral education," lip reading and speech, and are taught by a staff of nine special teachers of the deaf, headed by Mrs. Margaret Breakley, director of speech and hearing for the school district.

The Burlingame program, which serves 50 children from school districts throughout the county, was inaugurated in 1948.

At that time, there were four deaf school-age children in Burlingame attending school in San Francisco. The parents of the children, along with other interested citizens and the Burlingame School Board, appealed to the state department of education and instituted the program with the four local students and four students from other San Mateo County cities.

The number of students has increased each year.

"The most important aspect of our program is the fact that the children can live at home with their families and still obtain the type of specialized education they need," Mrs. Breakley said.

"Also, we feel it is important that handicapped children go to school with other children," the director, who has worked with the county's deaf children 18 years, said, "and not be isolated throughout their youth and then forced to adjust to living with so-called normal people after reaching adulthood."

The 50 deaf children attend special classes at Roosevelt, Washington, Lincoln and Burlingame Intermediate schools, and also attend regular classes with the other pupils as they master the basics of speech, reading, and lip reading.

About 27 per cent of the students in the school for the deaf eventually improve their speech and lip reading abilities enough to either attend "hard-of-hearing" classes or participate completely in the district's regular school program.

CANDI DAVITON, left, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Daviton, Daly City, participated in a speech and reading drill in a Burlingame School for the Deaf class at Roosevelt School. Directing the group exercise is Miss Billie Stone, one of nine accredited special teachers on the Burlingame staff. There are 24 children from North Peninsula Classes attending the school this year. 'Fearless' Chalks
Up the Winners

Frank LaPierre

Back on Solid Ground: Don't try to say Fearless Pierre didn't tell you so on the outcome of that election. Would you believe he was 100 per cent accurate? How about 80 per cent? Chalk up St. Clair, Younger, Dolwig, Estes, Finch and Reagan. You're asking what happened to my prediction concerning Ryan and Ivy Baker Priest? Sorry about that chief!

And speaking of former 49er football player St. Clair, his addition to the County Board of Supervisors raises the average height of that august body to 5 feet, 4 inches, if you can believe the figures of Zirkel. Guess that dark room finally got to him...

How about Johnny Swanson, Westlake Bowl owner and friend of citizen Edmund (Pat) Brown, taking the governor down the garden path at Harding golf course election day. That reliable source (who hasn't been right yet) claims it was a perfect day for Pat—he lost all the way around.

The Shadow Knows: About that bet at the Lions Club before last June's primary. The one where Lion Julius Castelan offers 3-1 odds that Brown will pull the stage out from whomever ran against him. Says fellow Lion Ray Logan "Here's $100," handing Joe Long his check. A sad, but wiser, Julius walked into the Wednesday luncheon to applause from members singing "For he's a jolly, etc. etc." between sips of champagne—compliments of winner Logan... There's no truth to those rumors that Governor Brown is thinking about taking over that vacated spot on "Death Valley Days."

No Rest for the Weary: While others were celebrating (or trying to forget) the election last week, yours truly was hard at it down in the Playboy Club, sitting patiently waiting while 50 bunnies were being clued in on the proper way to select and pour California (never call 'em domestic) wines. Chatting quietly in a corner of Hugh Hefner's local bunny hut with bunny mother Frankie Helms, we learned the ins and outs of life in the rabbit world (chuckle, snort, gasp!). Little do people realize how regimented these girls live. The wine? Full bodied, well rounded and sometimes sweet. The wine, the wine!

Sorry About That: A hushed silence fell over the gathering at the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce directors' meet last week as newly elected President John Wuerthner rose to make his first speech. "Gentlemen" the distinguished president addressed the members—and was immediately shot down by outgoing President Ed Morgan, who reminded him there were two ladies present: Mona Baker and Ramona Birke.

You Heard It First: Best eyesore of the month has to go to that center strip which runs through Colma. Probably the worst looking green strip in the county. Why can't they plant trees that would blend in with the local scenery, instead of those sawed off scrub pines and crabgrass... second prize is awarded to the small unpainted shack that houses a crossing guard in "front" of the Oceana High School in Pacifica—all it needs is a half-moon cut in the door.

You Heard It First: Now they're talking about planting flowers down the center strip of the Junipero Serra Freeway where it passes through Daly City. No messy fencing—just flowers. The way many people drive hereabouts, that's all they need after the dust settles. Flowers that is!... City Attorney Paul Hupf has been instructed to rewrite the city's Home Occupation ordinance. He wants all such occupations curtailed.

But what about those folks who need a home occupation to supplement their meager incomes? People like that woman who appeared before the Planning Commission the other P.M. asking for a permit to open a massage business in her home. She studied for three years and has a young student son to support.

Her pleas fell on deaf ears. They rejected the request. South San Francisco has a new ordinance on this subject and it appears to be workable. Might pay for our local officials to scout around a little... Watch for another weed abatement program to get under way in Daly City. You don't cut your grass or clean up that debris, the city will do it for you. But you'll get the bill... Powers that be are now talking about a totally new zoning ordinance around city hall (the new civic center). Likely to be a C-O (for commercial office) zone. Maybe then they won't be able to build those "Roger Miller" type apartments. You know: rooms for rent 50 cents. etc. etc.

The Book Shelf

A Portrayal Of Russian Idealists

Samuel Chandler

WHAT happens in Russia when idealists become disillusioned with the government and its leaders. The answer is dramatically portrayed in "On Trial."

This story of the prosecution of two authors whose critical works were published in the Western world reads like a novel. Yet it is better than most novels; more dramatic; more rich in emotion and suspense.

It tells of the trial of Andrei Senyavsky and Yuli Daniel, two young men who were arrested Communists until they passed through the era that dethroned the memory of Stalin and sent Pasternak into disgrace.

With one Helene Peltier-Zamoyska as an agent, Sinyavsky published several novels and a few essays in Paris, using Abram Tertz as a pseudonym.

IN these writings he poked fun at such august institutions as the secret police and the susceptibility of "right-minded" Soviet citizens. He stated that the Soviets have imposed artificial limits upon art, making it impossible for artists to create a peculiar style.

"Soviet fiction," he said, "is a monstrous salad with characters that torment themselves, grow sad and yet vie with each other in shouting platitudes from the Soviet press: Long live peace in the whole world and down with war mongers."

Under the pseudonym "Nikolai Arzhak," Yuli Daniel published four stories that are filled with a bitter-edged satire. Of these that which angered government officials was "This Is Moscow Speaking," which is a fable about how people might behave if they were officially allowed to kill by decree of the government.

The two men were arrested on September 13, 1965. In pre-trial publicity they were pictured as turncoats and double-faced agents. They were accused of having a hidden hatred for "our system" and of dealing in "vile mockery of everything dear to our Motherland and people."

THE trial opened on February 10, 1966, and continued for four days. An unknown observer made a transcript of the trial and smuggled it to the West where Max Hayward, an authority on Russian literature, was commissioned to translate, edit it and write an introduction.

During the trial the defendants are presented as cowardly felons. The only witnesses presented enhanced the case of the prosecutor. The defendants had to submit to questions from both attorneys and the judge. Each man was allowed to make a final plea.

At the end of the trial Sinyavsky was sentenced to seven years of hard labor and Daniel to five. Sinyavsky totally denied any guilt while Daniel admitted partial guilt in publishing his stories abroad.

Within the Soviet Union the reaction of the people varies, but it appears that even among the members of the establishment there is embarrassment and regret. Many Russians have been led to remember that many Soviet writers have been imprisoned, banished, executed, or driven into silence.

THE entire record demonstrates once again that censorship is the tool of dictators. It has no place in a society of free men. Censorship is a boomerang that returns to inflict the censor.

"On Trial" is a dramatic book. Most of it is the actual exchanges between the attorneys and the defendants in the courtroom. The last chapter is an article by Z. Kendrina that mouths the official line of the Soviet government whose officials, in need, commissioned her to write it.

Like most censors, she seeks to discredit her victims by smothering her reader with "profound" literary criticism.

Better Business

A Resurrection Of Old Swindles

Lorene Beasley

OLD swindles never seem to die but are periodically resurrected, dusted off and touted to another generation of people. A little fur-bearing animal, the chinchilla, has been the cause of much Better Business Bureau activity for years.

In the late '40s and early '50s, millions of dollars were lost by uninformed people who were seeking to get rich quick by operating chinchilla farms in their spare time.

During the past year there has been a new rash of chinchilla promotions. Promoters through direct mail advertising, television and glib, fast-talking salesmen lure investors into home operation with promises of huge profits in a business they claim needs no previous experience.

The Better Business Bureau and Federal Trade Commission have been warring on such promoters and their exaggerated claims for years and, as a result, September 1, 1966, sellers of chinchilla breeding stock: in California, Utah and Kansas agreed to an FTC order forbidding them to misrepresent the production and quality of the chinchilla stock they sold and to stop exaggerations of the earnings purchasers could expect.

Daly City Bomb Threat

100 Flee Market To Street

Team of Police Combs Hillside

A bomb threat at the Cala Food Store in Daly City sent about 100 early morning shoppers scurrying into the streets Sunday while a team of police combed the big Hillside supermarket.

The threat was another in a rash of bomb scares that have been plaguing supermarkets in the north county during the past several months, according to a market spokesman.

Police attribute the calls to "cranks."

Shortly after 11:30 a.m., head clerk Tom Chergosky received a phone call warning "Your store is going to blow up within an hour."

Chergosky called police and then ran through the aisles ordering shoppers to evacuate the building.

After police finished their hour-long search for the bomb, most shoppers filed back into the market and continued their shopping.

Chergosky told police the caller had a "young male voice," but could not give any reason for the threat.

One bomb exploded in a Geneva Avenue supermarket a year ago injuring a shopper.

In rapid succession, bombs were found in three other north markets and disposed of by police and bomb squads.

On August 15 of this year, Michael Alex Gaspar, 20-year-old Pacifica fry cook was sent to the state prison hospital facility at Vacaville for 90 days of observation and evaluation, after he had pleaded guilty to the bombing of two North County markets.

Daly City police today said, however, that Gaspar was still in custody.

Criminal proceedings were suspended in August against Gaspar by Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley for the purposes of the psychiatric testing.

At that time, Judge Hartley noted that Gaspar was run over by a truck when he was three or four years old, and is still under treatment for the head injuries sustained in that accident.

Gaspar admitted that he attempted to extort money by planting homemade bombs in the Mayfair Market at 2665 Geneva Avenue, Daly City, last December 19 and the Central Foods Market at 609 Crespi Drive in Pacifica two days later.

Injunction In Brisbane Dump Issue

A preliminary injunction which will permit the continued dumping of garbage at the Sierra Point site in Brisbane was granted last week, "somewhat regrettably" by Superior Judge Melvin E. Cohn in Redwood City.

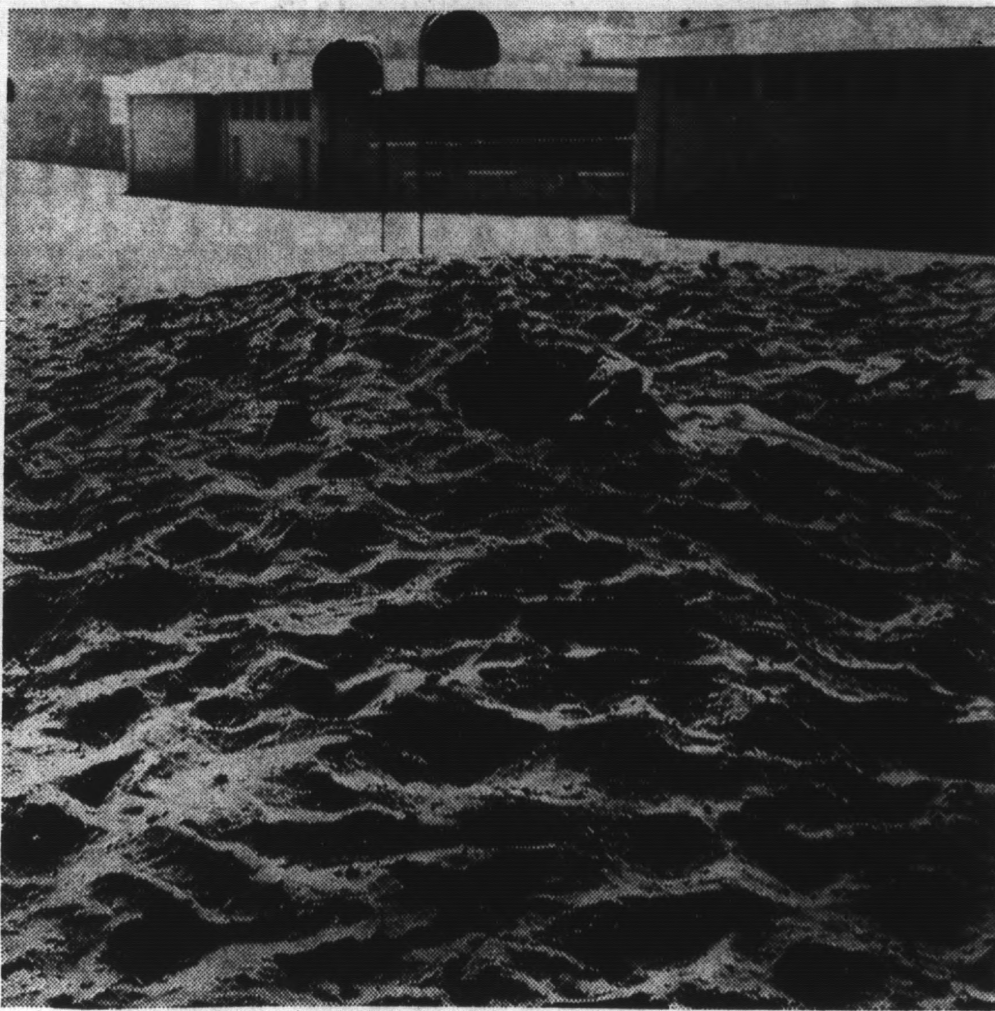

The injunction prohibits the city of Brisbane from interfering with the delivery and dumping of San Francisco garbage pending trial of a suit challenging validity of a Brisbane ordinance banning dumping of garbage within the city.

Judge Cohn stated that he was not satisfied with statements by civil and soils engineers that there remains sufficient space in the Candlestick dump site for additional dumping.

Clark Kirker, Brisbane city engineer, stated that there appeared to him to be sufficient area for additional dumping of garbage at the old site for two weeks, "perhaps a little longer."

It is the contention of the Sanitary Fill Company, which is owned by the scavenger companies serving San Francisco, that the Candlestick dump is filled. It was the switch to the Sierra Point dump site which resulted in the halting of garbage trucks by Brisbane city officials a week ago until a temporary restraining order was obtained to prohibit stopping of the trucks.

Judge Cohn commented that he believed Kirker was a "very honest witness" concerning the space in the old dump, but thinks there were too many "thinks" and "maybes" in the engineer's testimony.

LOOKING more like a deserted and badly maintained picnic area the John F. Kennedy schoolyard, subject of loud protests by groups of irate Daly City parents, was finally cleaned up this week. The debris was dumped into a nearby open culvert—subject of another series of protests. (Times Photo)

Fight For Signals Resuming

Pacifica city councilmen will resume a longtime, so far-unsuccessful battle for a set of traffic signals at the intersection of Coast Highway and Rockaway Beach Avenue.

The council indicated last week it probably would send a delegation to see Station Division of Highway as well as State Highway Commission officials.

A petition signed by nearly 450 Rockaway Beach area residents called for resumption of the campaign to get the state to install the signal lights.

City Manager Karl Baldwin said the renewed effort is but one of many such attempts since the city's incorporation.

It has been a "bad intersection," Baldwin said, all that time, but has not met the standards of the division of highways.

The division, he explained, has conducted an array of surveys at the intersection, foot and vehicular traffic counts included.

One of several letters accompanying the petition this week, came from Mrs. Frank Allen, wife of a Pacifica man seriously injured at the intersection late last month.

Teen-agers also got into the action when they erected a large sign that read: "Will you be the next to die?"

Airman Kenneth B. Marks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Marks, 1516 Terra Nova Blvd., Pacifica, has completed 12 weeks basic training at the U.S. Navy Training Center at San Diego, California. Airman Marks will report to Heavy Attack Squadron Four at the U.S. Naval Air Station, Whidbey Island, Wash.

Pistol and Mink Taken by Thief

A mink stole valued at $1,000 and a small-caliber pistol were stolen from the home of a Daly City woman.

Mrs. Rose Ann Johansen, 94 Peoria, reported the theft occurred while she was away from her home.

Car Rolls, 3 Injured In Bruno

Three persons were injured shortly after 12:30 p.m., Thursday, when a fast-moving car rolled over "at least three times" on Huntington Avenue in San Bruno.

In satisfactory condition at Peninsula Hospital were Ronald Tello Sfarzo, 244 Templeton Avenue, Daly City; Ray A. Orlandi, 139 Whittier, San Francisco, and Stephen Ambrose, 28, 272 Downey, San Francisco.

The trio were hurt when the car, driven by Sfarzo, careened out of control when unable to negotiate a curve while going north on Huntington Avenue.

While the police said the car rolled "at least three times," a witness to the accident indicated it was up to six times.

The car, police reports indicated, was being driven up to 90 miles an hour on a new, straight stretch of privately owned road through the old Tanforan race track site.

Owned by Arata Pontiac, the auto left the roadway on the east side of Huntington, travelling some 303 feet before turning over. It re-entered the roadway at Sneath Lane, coming to rest on its wheels.

One of the passengers, Orlandi, told lawmen he had warned the driver to slow down the vehicle.

Police said Ambrose suffered a fractured left leg and facial and scalp lacerations.

Killer Whale School Seen

A school of around 15 whales, such a large school of the giant which may have been deadly sea going mammals in four years on the Coastside. Fritsch said all the animals a quarter mile off shore off San Gregorio Beach last Thursday were swimming north and all afternoon, by a San Bruno flight instructor and his student from San Francisco.

Several other pilots later confirmed the sighting of Ed Fritsch of 126 Lake Drive, San Bruno, a flight instructor at Half Moon Bay Airport. It was the first sighting of from the shore.

If the game ends in a tie, credit will only be given to contestants who predict the tie.
2. Write the total net yards (rushing and passing) that you think the S.F. 49ers will make in Sunday's game in the box provided. (This estimate will only be used in case of ties between two contestants.)
3. Clip and mail the entry blank to: FOOTBALL CONTEST, The Post, 30 Park Plaza Dr., Daly City, Calif.
4. Entries must be postmarked prior to midnight Thursday of this week or delivered to The Times prior to midnight Thursday of this week. The Times is not responsible for entries lost, delayed or destroyed which fail to reach The Times by 9:30 A.M. on Saturday.
5. To receive the cash prize the winner must pick all 15 games correctly. If the entry does not pick all games, the winner will receive 2 tickets to the Big Game, California vs. Stanford, on November 19. The previous week's contest cash prize will be added to the next week's contest if it is not distributed before. The final week's winner will not need to guess all 15 games to win the cash prize. In case ties cannot be broken between contestants by means of the tie-breaker, the prize will be divided equally. (This includes ties between contestants who pick 15 winners.)
6. A bonus of $50 will be given to each cash prize winner (not Big Game ticket winners, who is a home-delivered subscriber to The San Mateo Times or indicated immediate delivery of The Times is wanted. To qualify for this bonus, either of the boxes at the bottom of the entry blank must be checked. In the event two or more subscribers divide the contest cash prize, the bonus prize will be divided in the same manner.
7. Number of entries from one household is limited to fifteen (15) on official entry blanks but only one (1) exact sized facsimile of the official entry blank may be submitted. Submission of more than one facsimile in any one week will render all facsimiles submitted by that contestant void.
8. Entries may be attached to a postcard, mailed in an envelope or delivered by hand to the San Mateo Times or the Daly City offices of The Times.
9. Anyone may enter the contest except employees of The Times or immediate members of their family.
10. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decisions. All entries become the property of The Times and no answers may be returned. The Times reserves the right to correct any typographical errors in the entry of the contest. Answers to the contest or winners' names will NOT be given over the phone. Winners will be notified by The Times.

Train Station Converted Into Class Restaurant

IF YOU HAPPEN to be a railroad buff, besides being a stickler for choice Italian and French dishes, then "highball" it down to the High Iron Restaurant in Pacifica. Converted from the original Vallemar Train Station, the restaurant provides intimate dining in quaint surroundings. Owned by two brothers, Guy and Al Falchi, who serve as maitre d' and bartender, and chef Max Stauffer (Formerly of L'Auberge), the High Iron offers irresistible entrees which you'll find difficulty in selecting. The wine tableau in its own bound book is also most impressive. The "Iron" is celebrating its Grand Opening with special gifts for all ladies, plus unusually fine food for everyone.

LA TOURAINE, the much-favored French restaurant in Burlingame, features one of the most selective wine lists in the area. Both domestic and imported wines, the foreign selections include French, German and Italian. Ask host co-owner Ernest Luisetti to recommend a wine that will enhance the delightful food of Chef Maurice Brosier. . . The Persuaders, with curly singer Jo Ann Vent, entertain patrons at Wayne Manor, Sunnyvale, whose ages range from 18 to 88. Go-go girls, weirdly-changing lights and pop art add to the excitement. . . You'll find many varieties of entrees from which to choose when dining at Dave Rasmussen's Shadows in San Mateo, where friendly waiters serve you in the authentic air of a Rathskeller. You haven't tasted German soup until you've been to the Shadows. . . Bob, the neatly clad doorman at the Hotel Canterbury, is in his thirtieth year of greeting cars and cabs at the Sutter hostelry.

Ernest Luisetti

THE SENSUOUS ARMENIAN DANCE by voluptuous Sonia is one of the highlights of the spectacular Middle Eastern show at the Balkan Village, Los Altos. Wife of Vahan Caffejian, club co-owner, Sonia's native costume and rolling hip movements, make gals envious and guys pop-eyed. On weekends, she doubles as hostess. . . Lou Rawls, the sensational young singer, who is currently one of the hottest acts in show business, will appear in his own show, "Live An Evening With Lou Rawls," Saturday, Nov. 26, at 8:30 p.m., at Oakland Auditorium Arena, and Friday, Dec. 2, at 8:30 p.m., at the San Francisco Masonic Auditorium. . . Dan Biagi and Rene Canabou's Cote D'Azur Continental restaurant in Atherton, has been described by food connoisseurs as a haven for excellent food. It's also one of the most elegant dining spots on the Peninsula — if you really want to make a good impression with that special "someone."

S. Caffejian

AN IDEAL PLACE FOR TOGETHERNESS, these nippy Fall evenings, is around the fireplace in the cocktail lounge at L'Auberge in Atherton. The fire's cozy warmth is enhanced by the intimate bistro atmosphere. For dinner, have Veal Oscar followed by a flaming dessert — such as Crepes Suzette by Louis, maitre d'. . . The New Lucky Buck drive-your-own-car package is taking the Bay Area by storm. The motel room is included at the Tahoe Sands, and you receive dinner and two cocktails at the Nugget. The price is only $15 per person. Oh yes, one more item: You also receive $15 in playing chips at the Nugget. Unbelievable? Call now and reserve your vacation rooms. Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year's space going fast. . . Happiness is an evening of winning, dining and dancing at the Blue Peacock restaurant, Millbrae. Continental food for lusty appetites; the fabulous Romanos for weekend dancing.

Louis Fruttschi

SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S, Redwood City, where especially-flavored steaks and prime ribs of beef are spotlighted, has had its share of recent troubles, but it has to be a pretty big crisis to get co-owner Mary Lou down. You can bet the seriousness of the recent fire and robbery has already been reduced to humorous conversation by the vivacious hostess. . . Frank Martinelli is justly proud of the selection of seafood on the menu of his luxurious "appy Knight restaurant in Hillsdale. Dinners are in the $3.50 range, with famous Caesar Salad or flaming Cherries Jubilee included. . . Thanksgiving is just around the corner, and if you've been wondering where to spend the festive occasion this year, you might try the Castaway at Coyote Point, San Mateo. . . That was no "five 'n dime" dinner party held by Woolworth's in the Plaza Room at the Fior d'Italia. No sir!

Mary Lou

THERE'S ALMOST "around the clock" dining at Carrousel du Soleil restaurant next to the Circle Star Theatre. On Fridays and Saturdays at 11 p.m. an hour when most restaurants are closed, you can enjoy the Late Suppers in the Mediterranean Villa-like atmosphere. Another unusual treat is the Sunday Brunch from 10:30 to 2 p.m. Dancing to the Emil Miller orchestra is an attraction in the elegant cabaret Tuesdays through Saturdays. . . Those who care to get away from "dry dock" for awhile to enjoy a well-mixed cocktail just naturally flock to Cap'n's Cabin, San Mateo. . . The Berkeley Hotel Claremont's Friday night "Computer Dating Game Dance" is drawing larger crowds of he's and she's every week. This is a genuine novelty and a mighty popular one.

Emil Miller

MORE AND MORE PEOPLE are discovering that the new "bossman" at the Atherton Club is none other than veteran restaurateur Carl Spann, who formerly was co-owner of Ramor Oaks in Atherton, La Hacienda Inn in Los Gatos, and more recently dining room manager of the Hyatt House in Burlingame. . . Sun's Chinese restaurant, downtown San Mateo, is a haven for businessmen in the area. The special luncheons here are hard to beat, taste-wise and price-wise. . . Pretty song stylist Fran Farrell, currently at the Cameo Club, Palo Alto, includes Blues, pops, show tunes and a variety of romantic ballads from France, Spain and Italy as part of her repertoire. . . The San Francisco group of Tip Toppers, the club for tall, tall people, held a party last weekend at the popular New Southern restaurant, South San Francisco. Club Chairman Don Kessler attributes much of its success to the warm hospitality of the New Southern owners.

Business Jackpot For Sinaloa With Sandoval Brothers

The Singing Sandoval Brothers, one of Mexico's hottest singing and instrumental groups, are making their San Francisco debut at Luz Garcia's Sinaloa supperclub and cantina. Their hit album "Bona Veja" (Bon Voyage) is selling like hotcakes in Mexico.

The combo is prettily decorated by Maria Dolores, their beautiful sister. Willie Vargas is a vocalist with a big voice and plenty of funny ad libs. Three shows nightly, with no cover charge to diners.

Let Oreste's Do the Cooking

Looking for something a little on the sensational side? How about treating your "bride" to a fabulous Thanksgiving Day dinner at Oreste's restaurant at 118 Jones Street, San Francisco. It's a natural to let Oreste's do the cooking for you, and let yourself be served the most wonderful of feasts with all the trimmings — and all at realistic prices. Plenty of parking space available.

Juliet Prowse, Dave London Top Nugget Billing

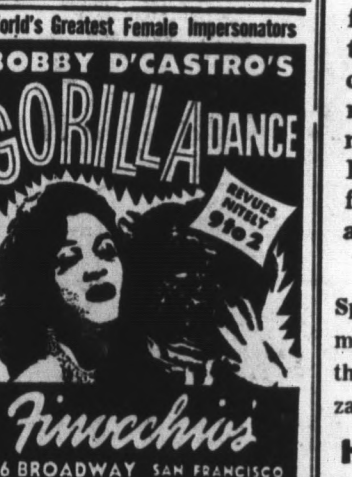

If any one feminine figure in show business today spells excitement, beauty and tons of talent, it has to be the leggy one, Juliet Prowse, who has responded to the barrage of area encore pleadings by packing a return stint in the 750-seat Circus Room of the Sparks Nugget November 17 through December 3. The South African-born Miss Prowse, who has already made an indelible mark nationally on stages, in movies, and in night clubs, won hundreds of first-comers over for good after her standout performances in the Nugget's theater-restaurant last April.

Appearing with the lovely Miss Prowse will be the "Clown Prince of Song," Dave London, whose great tenor voice, acting ability, and clown impersonation are a refreshing delight.

Fabbro's in Redwood City is gaining the reputation as being one of the best steak houses in the Bay Area. The fabulous fillets Owner Frank Fabbro offers would tempt a vegetarian. The atmosphere is cheerful and casual, and the prices are right for family dining.

State tip at Frances Anderson's Plumed Horse restaurant in Saratoga: Virginia Baked Ham with Siren's Smile Sauce, followed by an after-dinner special prepared by Bartender Ormond Strano.

Jim Boasso, owner of the Kahili Hut, Belmont, is certainly coming to the front as a mixer of exotic drinks. Although tropical drinks are his specialty, cocktails at his 'Hut' are popular with the after-work crowd.

INTERNATIONAL STAR RETURNS—Curvaceous Evana, a pint sized gal with a hurricane of talent, and a former Bay Area favorite, recently returned from a tour of Europe and is currently appearing in the fast-moving Broadway Chi-Chi Revue in San Francisco's North Beach before departing for the East Coast.

Outside Catering Fork 'n Cork

The new menu at the Fork 'n Cork on El Camino is a dandy. The bill of fare ranges from field and farm, Neptune's domaine, or choice steaks. Co-owner Vic Proul states that lunches are going "great guns" and that he is looking forward to a big holiday banquet season. Outside catering to private parties is another service offered here.

Two popular specialties flamed at your table at Phil Lehr's downtown Steakery and Wellington Room are Pepper Steak Flambe and Black Cherry Cheesecake.

FANS WHO KNOW THE SCORE MEET AT HYATT HOUSE

Be our guest before or after the game. Hyatt House fans can root for either team. But they all agree on one point: there isn't a nicer place to enjoy a good meal for miles around. Friends coming to town for the game? Lodge them at Hyatt House.

"Take a Trip" To The Former Site Of Big Al's

"The Trip," a pizza house, also featuring live entertainment, will be opening in San Mateo, Tuesday night, Nov. 22, at the former site of Big Al's Gashouse. Serving draft beer and 15 varieties of pizza, this is the second such venture for Owner Yvonne Modica, who has made a huge success of the Big Beat, Palo Alto.

Special attraction during the opening weeks will be the sensational Tombstones, Capitol recording artists, whose recent record, "The Mule," is expected to be released in December.

Complete remodeling of the interior, with unique lighting effects, and a spacious dance floor, are only a few of the changes being made for the opening. Minors are welcome for pizza and dancing.

Bright Lights' special Thanksgiving Edition, which will be published in The Post Monday, November 21, and The Times, Tuesday, November 22, will have many Thanksgiving dine-out restaurant selections for your holiday choosing.

"Stampede" To The Black Horse

The "stampede" is still on: There was a great crowd at the Burlingame Black Horse, the past weekend. Friday night, "the cocktail hour" was "standing room only" in the plush lounge. Looks like proprietors Bob Rosselli and Bob Batistovich have a sure winner on their hands.

The discriminating palate seeks the unusual and the rare. You'll agree that the Cultured Chinese cuisine served at the Charm Garden, Belmont, is just that.

The Oxford Hotel, an old South San Francisco landmark, has been razed to provide additional parking spaces for booming Berkeley's. Originally constructed of World War I military barracks, the historic hotel was taken over by barges from Vallejo.

Former Stickney Manager Returns

Ralph Le Pinski, until recently manager of Stickney's Redwood City Hickory House, has returned as manager of Stickney's of San Mateo.

Le Pinski, previously managed Stickney's new San Mateo restaurant, with its Stagecoach dining room, cocktail lounge and coffee shop, earlier this year. A former chef, he has also managed two other Stickney restaurants, where he specialized in serving Stickney's wide selection of "Western" flavored meats that have made the Stickney name such a great favorite with Peninsula diners.

The Villa Chartier will serve its usual traditional Thanksgiving dinner. Look for the special menu to be published in advance. So those planning to make early reservations will be that far ahead of the crowds.

For a "quickie" snack at the Fuji Suki-yuki: Bar-b-Q meat on a stick, with an order of Sushi (rice cone) on the side. Better order several sticks—this is a goodie.

The Casuals Junior Teen Club will have a dance Friday, 7-9 p.m. at Colma School. Cost is 25 cents for members, 75 cents for guests.

The Westside Senior Teen Club will have a members only dance on November 23, from 8-11 p.m., at Westmoor High School Gymnasium. Youngsters will be admitted upon showing their membership card and paying 25 cents.

Those wanting to join may do so by taking $1 and a recent picture to Recreation Department offices, 144 Hillside Boulevard. No membership will be accepted at the dance.

Live music will be provided and gym shoes must be worn on the gym floor.

Cast for 'All My Sons' Selected At Westmoor High

Players have been cast for the portrayal of roles in Westmoor High School's production of Arthur Miller's post-war tragedy, "All My Sons."

Kenneth Brown, drama instructor, and Miss Sue Walker of the fine arts department said the play will be presented November 30 and December 1 and 2.

After three days of auditions, Brown selected Senior Dennis Klein to depict the lead part of Joe Keller. Dennis co-sports editor for the Rampage, Westmoor's newspaper, and a varsity baseball player, professes no previous acting experience upon the stage, but as he wrote on his application, "I'm a ham at heart."

Junior Rhodalyne Walton acquired the other lead as Joe Keller's wife, Kate. More experienced than her male counterpart, blonde Rhodalyne is a National Thespian and played a leading role in "Cinderella," as the stepmother.

Senior Randy Bloom, who was the Samurai husband in last year's dramatic presentation of "Rashomon," will portray the part of Chris, Joe Keller's son. Randy has taken four years of drama and besides "Rashomon," has participated in the school's production of "Pajama Game," was the leprechaun in "Finian's Rainbow," and performed several pantomimes in the Fine Arts Festival last year at Westmoor. Ann Deever will be acted by Diana Bravos who spent last year representing Westmoor as a model on the Emporium Hi-Board and is assistant second page editor of the Rampage. Diana, a senior, will debut as the ingenue having no acting experience since the sixth grade when she played Ichabod Crane in "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow."

Senior Dick Hammond will depict the bitterness in Ann's brother, George. Dick, a member of the Cheese and Math clubs was the priest in "Rashomon" and the Robust in "Finian's Rainbow."

Neighbors of the Keller family play a prominent part in "All My Sons." Dr. Jim Bayliss will be played by Chris White, a member of the school band, another novice in the field of drama. The part of his wife, Sue, is to be done by Junior Billie Joy Wilson, a dramatic veteran with four years of training and a chorus part in "Finian's Rainbow."

Larry Meckler, a familiar face in the field of drama, will play the part of Frank Lube, a man who possesses a strong belief in the stars. A petite senior, Donna North, will enact the role of Frank's jovial wife, Lydia. Donna held a lead in the production of "The Lark" in eighth grade, and handled a chorus part in "Finian's Rainbow."

Faculty Club Plans Meeting

The November 18 meeting of the Women's Faculty Club will be held in the Activities Room of the Administration Building of the college at 1:15 p.m.

A holiday workshop of decorating ideas for the home and gift wrappings of unusual interest will be conducted by the arts and crafts special interest group.

Everyone in attendance will have an opportunity to create a decorative item for holiday decor. Holiday refreshments will be served with tea.

CHANGE MEETING

The Board of Directors of San Mateo County Soil Conservation District will hold their regular business meeting Wednesday night, November 23, instead of Wednesday night, November 30, to enable directors desiring to attend the California Association of Soil Conservation Districts' annual convention to be held in Fresno November 29 through December 1.

Hilton Inn

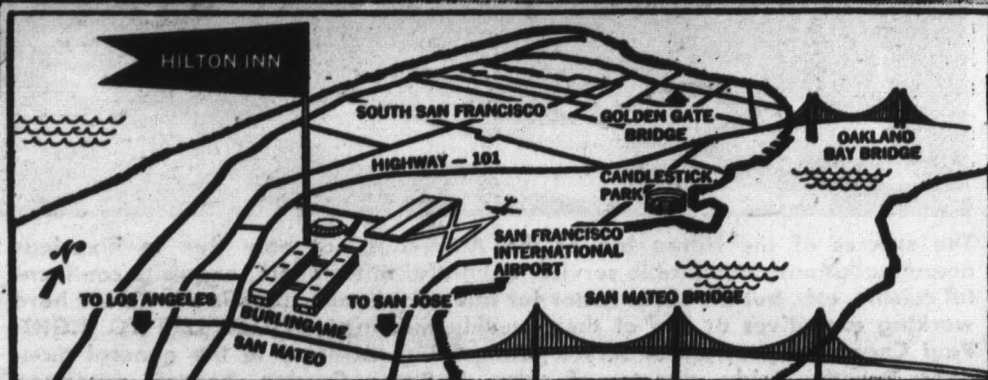

San Francisco International Airport

EXPANDS AGAIN

The San Francisco Hilton Inn at the Airport, the Peninsula's Finest Hotel, has just announced the completion of another 110 new guest rooms, thus boosting the hotel's accommodations to 424 rooms.

Located directly in front of San Francisco's famed International Airport (100 yards) away, the Hilton Inn is convenient to shopping centers, business, industry and is only 15 minutes (via Bayshore Freeway, U.S. 101) from the heart of San Francisco, with public bus service leaving the airport for the city every 30 minutes.

Nearly $1,000,000 Expansion Program Completed

In addition to the 110 new guest rooms, Hilton has also added two luxury suites and three new meeting rooms which can accommodate a total of 300 guests for convention and banquet meetings.

The new expansion, two three-story buildings constructed just West of its present complex, contains some of the most modern innovations known to the industry, including double insulation making each room soundproof and sealing out highway and airport noises.

J. Bryan Gordon

GENERAL MANAGER

Mr. J. Bryan Gordon, a native of Santa Monica, California, and general manager of the Hilton Inn at the Airport, began his multi-faceted career in 1943. He became a member of the Hilton's Town House Staff in Los Angeles, shortly after graduating from the University of California.

Following service with the U.S. Navy during World War II, Mr. Gordon returned to the company as front office clerk in the El Paso Hilton.

Because of his intense dedication and drive, he was appointed purchasing agent and assistant food and beverage manager of the Dayton, Ohio Biltmore in 1950, and three years later, in 1953, he was moved to the Caribe Hilton in San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he became food and beverage director.

Mr. Gordon's first managerial assignment came in 1957 at the Hilton Hotel in Albuquerque, and later in 1959, he was named manager of the newly opened Hilton Inn at New Orleans' Moisant International Airport.

A hard-worker, and logical thinker with an amazing memory for facts and figures, his competence and ability were unquestioned, and in June, 1961, he was assigned to the San Francisco Hilton Inn as general manager.

The Hilton Inn's rapid growth since it opened in 1959, is due largely to Mr. Gordon's efforts. His success has encouraged the Hilton Hotels' Corporation to go ahead with its plans for a series of Hilton Inns.

The success of the Hilton Inn at the Airport is not only due to luxurious accommodations, impeccable service, delightful atmosphere, exquisite continental cuisine, etc., but the main factor for this smooth operation is the hotel's hard working executives at one of their weekly meetings. SEATED LEFT TO RIGHT: Paul Chance, supervisor of service; Ann Bolin, secretary to the general manager; Dorothy Reidy, director of sales; J. Bryan Gordon, general manager;
